OROZCO STARTS NEW REVOLUTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Juarez, Mex., July 18.—A new revolution has been proclaimed by General Pascual Orozco, General Antonio Rojas and General Mariel Caravio, commanders of the "Colados" of the Mexican Federal army. They are gathering their forces in the vicinity of San Luis Potosi with the intention of resisting any government established by agreement between General Carranza and President Carballo.

When this news reached General Villa today he declared that the leaders of the new revolution would be put to death unless they yielded. "I fear," he said, "that we are in only the middle stages of the revolutionary movement. Peace will come only after these men have been driven from Mexican soil or killed."

HUERTA WILL SEEK REFUGE IN GERMANY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Puerto Mexico, Mex., July 18.—From his private car, surrounded by 500 picked soldiers who accompanied him from Mexico City, Gen. Victoriano Huerta sent out word early today that he would seek refuge under the German flag and would sail for Europe before night on the cruiser Dresden. He said he would remain in Europe until recalled by his country.

The fleeing dictator's announcement was given out by his secretary, Colonel Jose Melgano, after Huerta had held a long conference with Gen. Blanquet, for minister of war, who came to Puerto Mexico on the same train with his chief, and Captain Koehler of the Dresden.

The statement was issued at 3 a. m., six hours before Huerta arrived here. It was as follows: "When I took the presidency of Mexico, I said: 'I will bring peace to Mexico, cost what it may.' Now I willingly give up the presidency to bring about peace. I do it cheerfully."

"I have not treated at any time with Carranza and I know nothing of any arrangements that Provisional President Carballo may make with the rebels."

"I am going on board the Dresden today. I will go to Europe to remain until my country needs me."

Gen. Blanquet and all the members of the general staff of the Mexican Federal army will accompany General Huerta. Col. Melgano stated. Among the officers who will seek refuge in Europe rather than take the risk of execution after the Carranzistas assume control in the capital are General Eugenio Dosal, General Figueroa, General Alberto Querosi, General Lemorio Fuentes, Colonel Gabriel Huerta and seven other colonels and captains.

With the statement from Huerta announcing his intention of going to Europe, Col. Melgano also gave out a copy of a dispatch sent by the fugitive dictator to Provisional President Carballo in which he pledged his services if they might be needed. It read:

"I wish that you and your government should require my services. I am ready to do so at any time. I am ready to do so at any time. I am ready to do so at any time."

Huerta also gave out copies of dispatches he had sent to foreign sovereigns, governors of the Mexican states and the Mexican delegates to the Niagara Falls conference, bespeaking their friendship for the new government. To the delegates, Senors Rabasa, Elguero and Rodriguez, he sent this dispatch:

"I have resigned the presidency, leaving in my place Francisco Carballo, to whom I expect you to give all your assistance. I've taken this step to simplify the pacification of the republic, which is my whole ambition."

Huerta's announcement that he would take refuge on the Dresden caused surprise here, as it had been supposed that he would seek British refuge on the cruiser Bristol, which his wife and her party boarded upon arriving here. So strong was the belief that Huerta would sail on the Bristol that his statement was accepted by many as a ruse to throw off the track any plotters who might be planning to assassinate him.

Though the trains carrying Huerta and his troops came through from the capital without any attempt being made to wreck them, there was no relaxation of vigilance during the night to prevent an attempt on his life. Only officials or army officers of high rank were permitted to approach the car in which Huerta arrived. This was brought down to the pier on a temporary track laid for the purpose.

Troops detailed by Gen. Rincon, commander of the Puerto Mexico garrison were on duty throughout the night in the town, while the immediate vicinity of the train was picked by members of the famous 29th infantry. "Go! Blanquet's own," who were chosen to escort the fugitives from the capital.

A large supply of cognac was brought by Huerta from Mexico City and during most of the time that the train was coming here he was drinking steadily. The light in his car was not extinguished until early this morning and through the window, kept open on account of the intense heat, he could be seen sitting in his shirt sleeves with a bottle at his elbow.

Fire Blocks the Subway.

New York, July 18.—Subway traffic between Manhattan and Brooklyn was tied up during the morning rush hour today by a fire in the four story building at Bridge and Fulton street, Brooklyn. The smoke drifted into the subway obscuring the signals so that the trains could not run. The streets were filled with fire engines and cars were also tied up and soon a mob of 5,000 belated men and women were halted on their way to work. Deputy Fire Chief Dooley was severely injured by falling through a trap door. The loss was $75,000.

Mrs. Pankhurst Out Again.

London, July 18.—The hunger strike again triumphed over the British government today when Mrs. Pankhurst, who had been rearrested on Thursday under the Cat and Mouse act, was released from Holloway jail. The famous militant leader was weak and emaciated, having refused to eat anything or drink water she was incarcerated.

DOUBT WHETHER HE IS NEW CHAMPION.

Georges Carpentier, with his mascot.

London, July 18.—A questionable decision by Referee Corri in the sixth round of the Smith-Carpentier fight in which he awarded the fight to Carpentier on a "foul" may yet give the heavyweight championship side issue. "Here is exactly what happened. Smith found the chance for which he had been waiting for five and a half rounds and when the Frenchman rushed him with a straight left to the face Gunboat shot out a straight right and caught the cunning Frenchman squarely in the pit of the stomach. Carpentier did not fall down; he seemed simply to shrink into a shapeless mass on the floor. Actually the blow doubled him up and he fell forward on his knees with both hands pressed to his stomach.

"Smith, not realizing that Carpentier was actually out, not seeing that he was even off his feet instinctively tried to land a finishing blow. It grazed the top of Carpentier's head. Corri then awarded the fight to the Frenchman."

MAJOR CARRANZA COMMON COUNCIL

May Bring Proceeding to Punish Aldermen For Contempt of Court in Failing to Recognize Standing Committees.

It is likely that the entire street force will be laid off and no further bills be allowed to be contracted for the city if the legal bills against the city that have been contracted for since the first of January, amounting to about $50,000 and which have been approved and reported favorably by the auditing committee, are not attended to at the next meeting of the city fathers. It is also understood that steps will be taken by Mayor Canfield to have the seven aldermen, Messrs. McCullough, Zeel, Martin, Mitchell, Schlip, Jenks and Myers, who have refused to recognize the committees appointed by Dr. Connelly as presiding officer of the common council, put in contempt of court for disregarding the judgment of the court which held that the appointment of Dr. Connelly as president of the common council was legal and that the election of Zeel as president was illegal. The action also held that the committees appointed by Dr. Connelly were the legal committees of the common council.

Since the first of the year the seven aldermen have banded together and as a consequence the business of the city has been tied up and the local merchants who have furnished the city with necessary supplies have been unable to secure payment of just bills against the city. As the seven aldermen have a majority of one vote this condition of affairs has been able to persist.

The action of the six Democratic aldermen and those insurgent aldermen in holding up the business of the city and their efforts to embarrass the administration since the first of the year have been such that every one is becoming "red" with the efforts of the "Band of Seven" to play politics at the expense of the financial standing of the city.

By refusing to recognize the auditing committee of the common council the "Band of Seven" have held up bills against the city amounting to $50,000, a large sum of money, and the city is highly embarrassed and undoubtedly will "fall all over themselves" their haste to get to the polls at the next election and vote for the inocratic party.

The Mayor's statement.

Mayor Canfield at this morning that if these bills are held up by the set aldermen are not cared for at their meeting of the common council would be likely to be laid off and no bills allowed to be contracted in half of the city and no more purchases made. The mayor said he was besieged with creditors of the city demanding that their bills be paid and that he had sent a number of communications to the common council questioning that body to audit the bill for the audit.

ably upon the fact that the city fathers are likely to sue the city causing more expense and costs.

If the "Band of Seven" still continue stubborn and refuse to allow legal bills against the city to be paid it is extremely probable that the mayor will be forced to forbid any supplies to be furnished the city as there seems to be no chance of the merchants being able to collect their money, and judging from the present attitude of the mayor he will also carry out his intention of laying off the street force.

Alderman Martin at a recent meeting also tried to hold up the pay of the street force, and rather than run a chance of not having the members of the street force receive their pay by the refusal of the "Band of Seven" to recognize the auditing committee the entire force will be laid off.

CROP CONDITIONS CONTINUE GOOD

Washington, July 18.—The composite condition of all crops of the United States on July 1, was about 1.4 per cent above their ten year average condition on that date, according to the Agricultural Outlook issued by the department of agriculture today. This, the report states, makes conditions at present about 8.7 better than last year.

The Outlook contains a warning to farmers against the Hessian fly and says to successfully fight the pest the farmers in the latitude of Southern New York, Southern Michigan, Southern Wisconsin, and westward should now sow wheat before September 20 and farmers in the approximate latitude of Philadelphia, Columbus, Indianapolis, Springfield, Ill., and extreme Northern Kansas, five days later.

"It is not expected that parcels post marketing will supplant usual methods," says the Outlook, "but its proper use should certainly make it a valuable supplement. Farmers should remember that the parcels post works both ways. It is just as useful in handling things sent to the farm as in sending products away from the farm."

Of the car supply in relation to moving the wheat crop it says: "Indications are that shippers and carriers are co-operating this year more closely than ever before in their efforts to avert a car shortage in the movement of wheat crops. Sentiment is by no means universal among the country elevators that there will be a car shortage. The belief that there will be a shortage is most prevalent among country elevators in Kansas. It is the consensus that the increase in car supply does not keep pace from year to year with increasing need of cars."

Horn and bones of a wild ox and the antler of a red deer, both prehistoric animals, have been found during dredging in the river Thames at Marlow, Buckinghamshire, England.

MIDSUMMER DOLLAR DAY SALE NEXT WEDNESDAY

The merchants are making every preparation for the big Dollar Day sale to be held in this city on Wednesday of next week, and it will pay every householder to read the advertisements of the sale in Tuesday's Freeman. This will be the second Dollar Day sale held in this city and the merchants expect to far exceed the first sale both in the number of sales and the choice merchandise which will be offered. Every offering will be a genuine bargain. The stores taking part in this big holiday sale will have their stores handsomely decorated for the occasion.

Every shopper in the city and county should start laying away the dollars so as to be in a position to take advantage of the rare bargains that will be offered in all the stores taking part.

The stores taking part in this sale whose advertisement will appear in Tuesday's edition of The Freeman are: Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company, L. B. Van Wageningen & Company, A. Hart & Company, C. H. Stello & Company, Kingston Gas & Electric Company, Brown Auto Supply Company, B. Frank, Noah Wolven's Son, Sam Bernstein, S. Cohen's Sons, M. C. Crosby, Oppenheimer Brothers, William O'Reilly, John Larkin, Canfield Supply Company, S. E. Eighmey, Block's Bazaar, Stock & Cordts, A. D. Kose, Mohican Company, C. V. L. Pitts & Son, West Shore Clothing Company, Up-To-Date Cloth Manufacturing Company, W. H. Rider, Carl's Millinery department in the Carl Dry Goods store, Gregory & Company, Costello & Dugan, and H. H. Entler.

Altogether there will be forty of the local merchants taking part in this big sale and every variety and kind of merchandise will be offered and it will pay the shopper to read carefully every advertisement in the big Dollar Day sale edition on Tuesday. So that shoppers may know what stores are taking part in the big sale the windows will be decorated with the national colors and will bear big yellow pennants bearing the legend "Dollar Day Sale." Don't forget to take advantage of the big day. The merchants have worked hard to make it a success, and it goes without saying that never in the history of the city has so many commodities and varied bargains been offered.

SHAMROCK IV SAILS TODAY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Gosport, Eng., July 18.—The challenging yacht Shamrock IV with which Sir Thomas Lipton hopes to lift the America's cup, sailed for the United States today, bearing with her the best wishes of the British sporting public.

When the yacht left the yards of Camper and Nicholson, where she was built, all the shipping craft in the harbor whistled a rousing farewell. W. P. Burton, skipper of the Shamrock IV, will travel the author's route, passing by the Canary islands and will be conveyed across the Atlantic by Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin. The challenger was equipped with ketch rigging and compasses for the trip and her owners expressed the belief that the boat would in no wise be weakened by her long voyage. She is expected to reach New York the middle of August.

Sir Thomas received scores of telegrams from all parts of Europe wishing his yacht success.

CARRANZA WILL PROMISE NOTHING

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 18.—No pledge of any kind will be given either by the Constitutionalists to the United States or the Mexican Federalists who remain under arms, until the forces of the revolution shall be in full control of Mexico City. No promise of the sparing of life or title to property will be made. No terms of any kind will be offered as a reward for surrender.

This was the ultimatum announced to the world today by the spokesmen of the Carranza government here. It was given in answer to the reports that the state department had attempted to secure from Carranza guarantees of amnesty and of concession to the more powerful groups which have opposed the revolution.

Rafael Zubaran Capmany, head of the junta, and Luis Cabrera, one of the civil leaders of the revolution, pointed out that the best means of pacifying Mexico would be the occupation of the capital before the enemy should be granted any encouragement. Should they be left secure in life and lands while still able to fight, they would quickly begin to plot the overthrow of the new regime.

This declaration was made with the added comment that since the new government sought the recognition of foreign nations it could be counted on to commit no excesses of punishment, nor confiscate property where confiscation was not required by the public welfare.

For the sake of public safety, a general eviction of the Friars now in Mexico in violation of the law of 1872 is to be carried out. At the same time the landed estates of the church declared by the law of 1856 to be the property of the nation, are to be converted to the uses of the people. Public worship and the use of church buildings for that purpose will be left undisturbed.

At a dinner given by Senor Zubaran to the press in celebration of the fight of Huerta, the Constitutionalists predicted the complete reorganization of the country upon a basis of land reform within a year.

Upon the subject of the debts contracted by Huerta the Constitutionalists were reticent today. They admitted only that the demand of European powers that these debts be paid would be carefully considered.

KING GEORGE CONFERES ON ULSTER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 18.—King George plunged into the vortex of British politics today and delayed his departure for Portsmouth in order to confer with his cabinet on the Irish situation and the threatened crisis in the ministry.

It was reported that premier Asquith had struck upon a plan by which he hopes to settle the Ulster problem amicably, but this was denied by the cabinet.

This has been a week of important political movements behind the scenes. Premier Asquith is expected to make a statement in the House of Commons on Monday at which time he will definitely announce the program of the government on the question of the exclusion of Ulster from the workings of the home rule bill.

It has become known that some of the leaders of the Irish Nationalists have become dissatisfied because they think that the Premier is deferring to the Unionists of North Ireland to too great an extent. These leaders are threatening to make an attempt to break up the coalition between the Nationalists and Liberals which would undoubtedly spell disaster for the present government. The efforts of the government have been directed toward finding a path midway between the absolute rebellion of the Nationalists in Westminster and the Unionists in Ulster.

BIG FIRE PREVENTED BY PROMPT WORK

The careless throwing of a lighted cigarette through the open barn door of A. Maxon, the St. James street baker which ignited some loose hay on the barn floor, started a fire that only the prompt work of the fire department prevented from doing great damage this morning about two o'clock. As the weather was so extremely warm during the night the front door of the barn was left open so that the horses would receive the benefit of whatever breeze was stirring. Some one walking by on St. James street smoking a cigarette when he passed the open door threw the lighted butt into the barn and it struck in some loose hay on the floor and in an instant the hay became ignited and the flames crept up the side of the barn into the hay loft. Policeman Augustus Kuehn, as he was patrolling his beat, discovered the fire and turned in the alarm while the employees in the bake shop next door rushed into the barn and brought out the seven horses and also hauled the delivery wagons out of danger. The prompt response of the fire department kept the flames from spreading and after considerable work the blaze was extinguished. The flames burned a considerable quantity of hay stored in the barn loft and burned the interior of the barn. The loss is estimated to be about $500 and is covered by insurance. Who threw the cigarette butt into the barn is not known as yet, but if discovered it will go hard with him and he will be dealt with to the full extent of the law.

OROZCO STARTS NEW REVOLUTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Juarez, Mex., July 18.—A new revolution has been proclaimed by General Pasquial Orozco, General Antonio Rojas and General Mariel Carava, commanders of the "Colgados" of the Mexican Federal army.

They are gathering their forces in the vicinity of San Luis Potosi with the intention of resisting any government established by agreement between General Carranza and President Carbajal.

When this news reached General Villa today he declared that the leaders of the new revolution would be put to death unless they yielded.

"I fear," he said, "that we are in only the middle stages of the revolutionary movement. Peace will come only after these men have been driven from Mexican soil or killed."

HUERTA WILL SEEK REFUGE IN GERMANY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Puerto Mexico, Mex., July 18.—From his private car, surrounded by 500 picked soldiers who accompanied him from Mexico City, Gen. Victoriano Huerta sent out word early today that he would seek refuge under the German flag and would sail for Europe before night on the cruiser Dresden. He said he would remain in Europe until recalled by his country.

The fleeing dictator's announcement was given out by his secretary, Colonel Jose Melgano, after Huerta had held a long conference with Gen. Blanquet, for minister of war, who came to Puerto Mexico on the same train with his chief, and Captain Koehler of the Dresden.

The statement was issued at 3 a. m., six hours before Huerta arrived here. It was as follows:

"When I took the presidency of Mexico, I said: 'I will bring peace to Mexico, cost what it may.' Now I willingly give up the presidency to bring about peace. I do it cheerfully."

"I have not treated at any time with Carranza and I know nothing of any arrangements that Provisional President Carbajal may make with the rebels."

"I am going on board the Dresden today. I will go to Europe to remain until my country needs me."

Gen. Blanquet and all the members of the general staff of the Mexican Federal army will accompany General Huerta, Col. Melgano stated.

Among the officers who will seek refuge in Europe rather than take the risk of execution after the Carranzistas assume control in the capital are General Eugenio Parelo, General Figueras, General Alberto Querol, General Lemorio Fuentes, Colonel Gabriel Huerta and seven other colonels and captains.

With the statement from Huerta announcing his intention of going to Europe, Col. Melgano also gave out a copy of a dispatch sent by the fugitive dictator to Provisional President Carbajal in which he pledged his services if they might be needed. It read:

"I wish that you and your government should require my small assistance, as I never at your service."

Huerta also gave out copies of a dispatch he sent to the Carranzistas, governors of the Mexican states and the Mexican delegates to the Niagara Falls conference, bespeaking their friendship for the new government. To the delegates, Senors Rabasa, Elguero and Rodriguez, he sent this dispatch:

"I have resigned the presidency, leaving in my place Francisco Carbajal, to whom I expect you to give all your assistance. I've taken this step to simplify the pacification of the republic, which is my whole ambition."

Huerta's announcement that he would take refuge on the Dresden caused surprise here, as it had been supposed that he would seek British refuge on the cruiser Bristol, which his wife and her party boarded upon arriving here. So strong was the belief that Huerta would sail on the Bristol that his statement was accepted by many as a ruse to throw off the track any plotters who might be planning to assassinate him.

Though the trains carrying Huerta and his troops came through from the capital without any attempt being made to wreck them, there was no relaxation of vigilance during the night to prevent an attempt on his life. Only officials or army officers of high rank were permitted to approach the car in which Huerta arrived. This was brought down to the pier on a temporary track laid for the purpose.

Troops detailed by Gen. Rincon, commander of the Puerto Mexico garrison were on duty throughout the night in the town, while the immediate vicinity of the dictator's car was picketed by members of the famous 29th infantry. "Gen. Blanquet's own," who were chosen to escort the fugitives from the capital.

A large supply of cognac was brought by Huerta from Mexico City and during most of the time that the train was coming here he was drinking steadily. The light in his car was not extinguished until early this morning and through the window, kept open on account of the intense heat, he could be seen sitting in his shirt sleeves with a bottle at his elbow.

Fire Blocks the Subway.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 18.—Subway traffic between Manhattan and Brooklyn was tied up during the morning rush hour today by a fire in the four story building at Bridge and Fulton streets, Brooklyn.

The smoke drifted into the subway, causing the signals so that the trains could not run. The streets were filled with fire engines and cars were also tied up and soon a mob of 5,000 belated men and women were halted on their way to work. Deputy Fire Chief Dooley was severely injured by falling through a trap door. The loss was $75,000.

Mrs. Pankhurst Out Again.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, July 18.—The hunger strike again triumphed over the British government today when Mrs. Pankhurst, who had been rearrested on Thursday under the Cat and Mouse act, was released again. Having refused to eat anything or drink water she was incarcerated.

DOUBT WHETHER HE IS NEW CHAMPION.

Georges Carpentier, with his mascot.

London, July 18.—A questionable decision by Referee Corri in the sixth round of the Smith-Carpentier fight in which he awarded the fight to Carpentier on a "foul" may yet give the heavyweight championship to the American fighter, Gunboat Smith. A writer who sat at the ring side says: "Here is exactly what happened. Smith found the chance for which he had been waiting for five and a half rounds and when the Frenchman rushed him with a straight left to the face Gunboat shot out a straight right and caught the cunning Frenchman squarely in the pit of the stomach. Carpentier did not fall down; he seemed simply to shrink into a shapeless mass on the floor. Actually the blow doubled him up and he fell forward on his knees with both hands pressed to his stomach."

"Smith, not realizing that Carpentier was actually out, not seeing that he was even off his feet instinctively tried to land a finishing blow. It grazed the top of Carpentier's head. Corri then awarded the fight to the Frenchman."

MAJOR CARRANZA'S COMMON COUNCIL

May Bring Proceeding to Punish Aldermen for Contempt of Court in Failing to Recognize Standing Committees.

It is likely that the entire street force will be laid off and no further bills be allowed to be contracted for the city if the legal bills against the city that have been contracted for since the first of January, amounting to about $50,000 and which have been approved and reported favorably by the auditing committee to the common council, are not attended to at the next meeting of the city fathers. It is also understood that steps will be taken by Mayor Canfield to have the seven aldermen, Messrs. McCullough, Zee, Martin, Mitchell, Schlip, Jenks and Myers, who have refused to recognize the committees appointed by Dr. Connelly as presiding officer of the common council, put in contempt of court for disregarding the judgment of the court which held that the appointment of Dr. Connelly as president of the common council was legal and that the election of Alderman Zee as presiding officer was illegal. The court also held that the committee appointed by Dr. Connelly were the legal committee of the common council.

Since the first of the year the seven aldermen have banded together and as a consequence the business of the city has been tied up and the local merchants who have furnished the city with necessary supplies have been unable to secure payment of just bills against the city. As the seven aldermen have a majority of one vote this condition of affairs has been able to persist.

The action of the six Democratic aldermen and the one insurgent alderman in holding up the business of the city and their efforts to embarrass the administration since the first of the year have been such that every one is becoming "red" with the efforts of the "Band of Seven" to play politics at the expense of the financial standing of the city.

By refusing to recognize the auditing committee of the common council the "Band of Seven" have held up bills against the city amounting to $50,000, a large sum of money, and the merchants of the city are highly dejected with the pay of the Democrats and undoubtedly will "fall all over themselves" their haste to get to the polls at the next election and vote for the insouciant party.

The Mayor's Statement.

Mayor Canfield at this morning that if these bills are held up by the seven aldermen are not cared for at next meeting of the common council would be likely to be contracted in half of the city and no more purchases made. The mayor said he was weary of the creditors of the city demanding that their bills be paid and that he had sent a number of communications to the common council requesting that body to audit the bill for the audit-ably upon the city. The city is likely to sue them, causing more expense and costs.

If the "Band of Seven" still continue stubborn and refuse to allow legal bills against the city to be paid it is extremely probable that the mayor will be forced to forbid any supplies to be furnished the city as there seems to be no chance of the merchants being able to collect their money, and judging from the present attitude of the mayor he will also carry out his intention of laying off the street force. Alderman Martin of the "Band of Seven" at a recent meeting also tried to hold up the pay of the street force, and rather than run a chance of not having the members of the street force receive their pay by the refusal of the "Band of Seven" to recognize the auditing committee the entire force will be laid off.

CROP CONDITIONS CONTINUE GOOD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 18.—The composite condition of all crops of the United States on July 1, was about 1.4 per cent above their ten year average condition on that date, according to the Agricultural Outlook issued by the department of agriculture today. This, the report states, makes conditions at present about 8.7 better than last year.

The Outlook contains a warning to farmers against the Hessian fly and says to successfully fight the pest the farmers in the latitude of Southern New York, Southern Michigan, Southern Wisconsin, and westward should now sow wheat before September 20 and farmers in the approximate latitude of Philadelphia, Columbus, Indianapolis, Springfield, Ill., and extreme Northern Kansas, five days later.

"It is not expected that parcels post marketing will supplant usual methods," says the Outlook, "but its proper use should certainly make it a valuable supplement. Farmers should remember that the parcels post works both ways. It is just as useful in handling things sent to the farm as in sending products away from the farm."

Of the car supply in relation to moving the wheat crop it says:

"Indications are that shippers and carriers are co-operating this year more closely than ever before in their efforts to avert a car shortage in the movement of wheat crops. Sentiment is by no means universal among the country elevators that there will be a car shortage. The belief that there will be a shortage is most prevalent among country elevators in Kansas. It is the consensus that the increase in car supply does not keep pace from year to year with increasing need of cars."

Altogether there will be forty of the local merchants taking part in this big sale and every variety and kind of merchandise will be offered and it will pay the shopper to read carefully every advertisement in the big Dollar Day sale edition on Tuesday. So that shoppers may know what stores are taking part in the big sale the windows will be decorated with the national colors and will bear big yellow pennants bearing the legend "Dollar Day Sale."

Don't forget to take advantage of the big day. The merchants have worked hard to make it a success, and it goes without saying that never in the history of the city has so many stores and varied bargains been offered.

SHAMROCK IV SAILS TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Gosport, Eng., July 18.—The challenging yacht Shamrock IV with which Sir Thomas Lipton hopes to lift the America's cup, sailed for the United States today, bearing with her the best wishes of the British sporting public.

When the yacht left the yards of Camper and Nicholson, where she was built, all the shipping craft in the harbor whistled a rousing farewell. W. P. Burton, skipper of the Shamrock IV, will travel the authority route, passing by the Canary Islands and will be conveyed across the Atlantic by Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht, Erin.

The challenger was equipped with ketch rigging and compasses for the trip and her owners expressed the belief that the boat would in no wise be weakened by her long voyage. She is expected to reach New York the middle of August.

Sir Thomas received scores of telegrams from all parts of Europe wishing his yacht success.

STOP THE ADVANCE OF THE ARMY WORM

Plowed Furrows and Poison for New Outbreak of Pest That Threatens Fields of Wheat, Oats, Corn, Timothy and Blue Grass—Lawns in Washington, D. C. Overrun.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., July 18.—Letters, telephone messages, and individual callers have been soliciting aid from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to stop the advance of the hordes of army worms that threaten their fields of wheat, oats, corn, timothy, blue grass and other grasses. There seems to be a general outbreak of this pest throughout the north, east of the Rock Mountains. These worms are emerging from eggs laid by moths that apparently swarmed up from the southwest. Great numbers of these moths have been noticed in the vicinity of Washington during the past month, hundreds of their broken wings having been seen near the Union Station. Lawns in the capital are being overrun by this pest.

The army worm is a smooth, striped caterpillar about an inch and a quarter long and a quarter of an inch in diameter. It is a rather dark green color with a white line running down its back. It is very voracious and eats its way through crops as it travels. It is a very common pest in the south, but it is now appearing in the north in large numbers. It is a very dangerous pest to the farmer, as it can destroy his crops in a very short time. It is a very common pest in the south, but it is now appearing in the north in large numbers. It is a very dangerous pest to the farmer, as it can destroy his crops in a very short time.

How Worms May Be Destroyed.

If the worms have not yet attacked a field the most practical way to keep them out is to plow furrows in front of them, throwing the furrow in the direction toward which they are traveling. The worms will fall into the furrow and when this is full they may be killed either by dragging a log back and forth in the furrow or by destroying the worms in holes previously dug at intervals of 20 feet in the bottom of the furrow. Kerosene poured on them in the holes will destroy them.

If the worms are already in the field the following mixture which will attract the worms and destroy them should be spread about:

I pound of paris green (poisonous, 50 pounds of wheat bran, Juice of one-half dozen oranges.

Bring this mixture to a stiff dough by the use of dilute molasses and scatter it amongst the worms. Care should be taken to keep this dough from children or domestic animals.

Prompt action to prevent the worms from infesting a field is much better than later efforts to attempt to kill them in the grain. Once the caterpillars have infested a field, the measures necessary to destroy them may seriously hurt or even destroy the crop.

The worms at first are almost always localized in some definite breeding place in the field and immediate efforts should be taken to eradicate them in these small areas before they have had time to spread. The normal breeding place of the army worm is in rank grass, such as is usually found along the edges of swamps or in spots of pasture land that have been over-fertilized. They are practically never found in swamps, because the worms need a reasonably dry place in which to breed.

Clean cultivation, rotation of crops, clearing up of fence corners, close pasturage and the burning over of waste grass land in the spring or fall, are good measures to prevent a recurrence of the army worm.

What to do for Lawns.

For small areas like lawns and private grounds, the poison bait mentioned above may be used. Equally efficient is the application of a spray of one pound arsenate of lead dissolved in 25 gallons of water. If the powdered arsenate of lead is more easily obtainable, one pound of this may be mixed with 8 pounds of flour and dusted on the grass where the worms are feeding. It must be remembered that arsenate of lead is a deadly poison to men and animals, as well as to army worms.

STOP THE ADVANCE OF THE ARMY WORM

Plowed Furrows and Poison for New Outbreak of Pest That Threatens Fields of Wheat, Oats, Corn, Timothy and Blue Grass—Lawns in Washington, D. C. Overrun.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Letters, telephone messages, and individual callers have been soliciting aid from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to stop the advance of the hordes of army worms that threaten their fields of wheat, oats, corn, timothy, blue grass and other grasses. There seems to be a general outbreak of this pest throughout the north, east of the Rock Mountains. These worms are emerging from eggs laid by moths that apparently swarmed up from the southwest. Great numbers of these moths have been noticed in the vicinity of Washington during the past month, hundreds of their broken wings having been seen near the Union Station. Lawns in the capital are being overrun by this pest.

The army worm is a smooth, striped caterpillar about an inch and a quarter long and a quarter of an inch in diameter. It is a dark green color with a white line down its back. It has a number of small, dark spots on its back. It is a very voracious eater and will eat any kind of green plant. It is a very common pest in the south and is also found in the north. It is a very destructive pest and can do a great deal of damage to crops and lawns.

How Worms May Be Destroyed.

If the worms have not yet attacked a field the most practical way to keep them out is to plow furrows in front of them, throwing the furrow in the direction toward which they are traveling. The worms will fall into the furrow and when this is full they may be killed either by dragging a log back and forth in the furrow or by destroying the worms in holes previously dug at intervals of 20 feet in the bottom of the furrow. Kerosene poured on them in the holes will destroy them.

If the worms are already in the field the following mixture which will attract the worms and destroy them should be spread about:

1 pound of paris green (poisonous, 50 pounds of wheat bran, Juice of one-half dozen oranges.

Bring this mixture to a stiff dough by the use of dilute molasses and scatter it amongst the worms. Care should be taken to keep this dough from children or domestic animals.

Prompt action to prevent the worms from infesting a field is much better than later efforts to attempt to kill them in the grain. Once the caterpillars have infested a field, the measures necessary to destroy them may seriously hurt or even destroy the crop.

The worms at first are almost always localized in some definite breeding place in the field and immediate efforts should be taken to eradicate them in these small areas before they have had time to spread. The normal breeding place of the army worm is in rank grass, such as is usually found along the edges of swamps or in spots of pasture land that have been over-fertilized. They are practically never found in swamps, because the worms need a reasonably dry place in which to breed.

Clean cultivation, rotation of crops, clearing up of fence corners, close pastures, and the burning over of waste grass land in the spring or fall, are good measures to prevent a recurrence of the army worm.

What to do for Lawns.

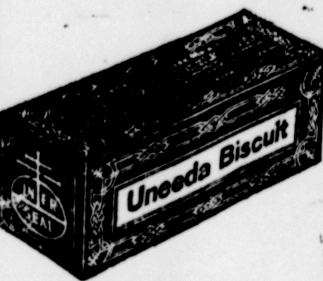

For small areas like lawns and private grounds, the poison bait mentioned above may be used. Equally efficient is the application of a spray of one pound arsenate of lead dissolved in 25 gallons of water. If the powdered arsenate of lead is more easily obtainable, one pound of this may be mixed with 8 pounds of flour and dusted on the grass where the worms are feeding. It must be remembered that arsenate of lead is a deadly poison to men and animals, as well as to army worms.

Moonlight Sail.

There will be a moonlight sail on August 5, under the auspices of the Knights of The Holy Grail, of Trinity M. E. Church, to Poughkeepsie. Sail will leave the dock at 7:15. Refreshments served on board.

CHICAGO FEDERALS GET PITTSBURGH STAR

Claude Hendrix, One of Best Outlaw Pitchers.

Claude R. Hendrix is one of the best pitchers yet secured from the ranks of organized baseball by the independent Federal league, as he is not only a star pitcher, but a superior batsman. Hendrix is twenty-three years old, six feet tall, weighs 185 pounds, and pitches right-handed. He hails from Stillwell, Kansas. In his younger days he played with the baseball team of St. Mary's college of St. Mary's, Kas. He made his professional debut with the Salina club of the Kansas State league in 1909. The following year he played with the Cheyenne Indian team. In 1911 he was secured by the Pittsburgh club of the National league, which secured title to him by purchase from the Salina club. He made a great record in his initial major league season in 1911, but did not do quite so well in 1912. In the 1913 season he made an excellent record. After prolonged negotiation with the Pittsburgh club in January he signed with the Chicago Federal league team for three years, and will be one of the highest-salaried players in that organization.

PIRATE TWIRLER DOING WELL

Babe Adams Has Come to Front Rapidly This Season—Conspicuous in Winning Games.

Babe Adams, the Pittsburgh twirler, has shown improvement in his box work this season. Adams jumped into fame a few seasons back when, practically an unknown twirler, he pitched the Pirates into the world's championship in a series with the Detroit team. Since then his box work has been of the in-and-out order. This season Adams has done well with the Pirates and has been a conspicuous figure in keeping the Smoketown bunch in a good place in the National league race.

Record for Assists.

A recent note going the rounds that a first baseman had made a record by having 21 putouts in a nine-inning game brings out a statement that First Baseman Pokorney of the Sherman team, in the Texas-Oklahoma league, recently had 22 putouts and one assist in nine innings. The infield made 25 of the 27 putouts in this game, which is also an additional record so far as known. The game was played with Texarkana and Texarkana won by a score of 2 to 1. The data is furnished by Umpire James A. Murphy.

Manager is Hard Worker.

Manager Jennings is working just as hard or harder than any player on his team in every game. His coaching has much to do with the success of his team also, for he is there with the enthusiasm that puts ginger into his players all the time.

Wagner's Hits Come High.

A Pittsburgh statistician, estimating Wagner's salary for the last ten years to have been $10,000 annually, figures that the 3,000 hits gained by "Honus" since 1897 were made at a cost of $41.66 each.

The Knockers and the Knocked.
Watch the man the knockers are directing their hammers against. He is accomplishing something. No man ever made any headway without opposition. The further he advances the greater the anvil chorus. Failure is always jealous of success.—New-ton Democrat.

Foul Tip Is Tough on Umpire Silk O'Loughlin

This should make good reading for the promoters of the fourth major league. And likewise for the general public.

Standing behind the catcher. The hardest blow, in his opinion, was at Philadelphia a couple of seasons ago.

"Walter Johnson was pitching and the batter hit a foul tip that caught me on the arm," says Silk. "Johnson's speed is terrific enough, but add the speed of a foul tip to that and you can imagine how I felt. I thought my arm had gone with the ball to the grand stand."

"For at least ten minutes my arm was absolutely paralyzed. And for two months I could still feel the effects of that blow."

STORIES OF THE DIAMOND

The Cubs landed Casey Hageman, former Cardinal pitcher, at waiver price.

Manager Red Dooin has a good batting and fielding team, but he lacks the pitching.

If injuries to a team could win a pennant, Joe Birmingham and his Naps would have a walkaway in the American league.

Rebuilding the Naps is a discouraging problem. As soon as Manager Birmingham gets one weak spot built up the bad luck breaks out in another place.

The umpires in all the leagues—and this goes double for the Feds—must stir their stumps and hurry up these ball games. There has been too much time-killing to suit the fans.

R. J. McConaughy, a pitcher from Indianapolis, signed with the Hoofeds. He was supposed to have gone to the St. Joseph club of the Western league, but he balked and joined the independents.

Joe McGinnity, former big league pitcher, and lately manager of the Tacoma team, has resigned from the management, but will continue as president and chief owner of the club and will take his place on the slab as usual.

Becoming Modernized.

Native women "high caste" in India, known as pudah omen, because they keep their faces covered with pudahs or thick veils or live a life of seclusion from the opposite sex, are beginning to wear corsets and are now furnishing a new class of customers for such articles.

There will be no change in the attitude or the movements of the Constitutionallists because of the resignation of Huerta and the accession of Francisco Carbajal to the provisional presidency. The only possibility of a change in Constitutionallist plans, according to both Carranza and Villa, depends on the unconditional surrender of the Mexican forces under the new provisional president. General Blanquet says that there is absolutely no reason to believe that such a surrender will be made by Carbajal.

Dwarf Trees.

The Chinese influence on interior decoration extends to the wonderful dwarf trees which, once almost prohibitively expensive, are now to be had at really popular prices, commencing at about 60 cents for diminutive yews and cedars that look as if they had come out of a "Kewpie's" garden. Stately oaks, sycamores, cedars, standing at least 20 inches high, are wonderful with their gnarled and twisted branches and close foliage; they appear like ancient forest trees viewed from afar and through the "wrong end" of a telescope.

Saved by His Hobby.

There was an official on one of our great railroads who was retired at seventy. "He'll die now," said his friends kindly. But he didn't. Instead, he became interested in the wild flowers, and now he is too busy in looking for the ram's head orchid, and trying to find a new station for the hart's tongue fern, and tramping around in the woods and fields in all kinds of weather, even to think of dying. Anyway, he wouldn't have time until he's finished his monograph on the willows of the United States.—Lippincott's.

Modern Young Man's Slogan.

Edna Ferber, writing a Jock McChesney advertising story in the American Magazine, represents Jock as making the following statement: "These days it isn't so much what you've got in you that counts as what you can bring out. I know the young man's slogan used to be 'Work and Wait,' or something nearly like that. But these days they've boiled it down to one word.—'Produce.'"

Claude Hendrix, One of Best Outlaw Pitchers.

Claude R. Hendrix is one of the best pitchers yet secured from the ranks of organized baseball by the independent Federal league, as he is not only a star pitcher, but a superior batsman. Hendrix is twenty-three years old, six feet tall, weighs 185 pounds, and pitches right-handed. He hails from Stillwell, Kansas. In his younger days he played with the baseball team of St. Mary's college of St. Mary's, Kas. He made his professional debut with the Salina club of the Kansas State league in 1909. The following year he played with the Cheyenne Indian team. In 1911 he was secured by the Pittsburgh club of the National league, which secured title to him by purchase from the Salina club. He made a great record in his initial major league season in 1911, but did not do quite so well in 1912. In the 1913 season he made an excellent record. After prolonged negotiation with the Pittsburgh club in January he signed with the Chicago Federal league team for three years, and will be one of the highest-salaried players in that organization.

fame a few seasons back when, practically an unknown twirler, he pitched the Pirates into the world's championship in a series with the Detroit team. Since then his box work has been of the in-and-out order. This season Adams has done well with the Pirates and has been a conspicuous figure in keeping the Smoketown bunch in a good place in the National league race.

Record for Assists.

A recent note going the rounds that a first baseman had made a record by having 21 putouts in a nine-inning game brings out a statement that First Baseman Pokorney of the Sherman team, in the Texas-Oklahoma league, recently had 22 putouts and one assist in nine innings. The infield made 25 of the 27 putouts in this game, which is also an additional record so far as known. The game was played with Texarkana and Texarkana won by a score of 2 to 1. The data is furnished by Umpire James A. Murphy.

Manager Is Hard Worker.

Manager Jennings is working just as hard or harder than any player on his team in every game. His coaching has much to do with the success of his team also, for he is there with the enthusiasm that puts ginger into his players all the time.

Wagner's Hits Come High.

A Pittsburgh statistician, estimating Wagner's salary for the last ten years to have been $10,000 annually, figures that the 3,000 hits gained by "Honus" since 1897 were made at a cost of $41.66 each.

Foul Tip Is Tough on Umpire Silk O'Loughlin

This should make good reading for the promoters of the fourth major league. And likewise for the general public.

Behind the catcher. The hardest blow, in his opinion, was at Philadelphia a couple of seasons ago.

"Walter Johnson was pitching and the batter hit a foul tip that caught me on the arm," says Silk. "Johnson's speed is terrific enough, but add the speed of a foul tip to that and you can imagine how I felt. I thought my arm had gone with the ball to the grand stand."

"For at least ten minutes my arm was absolutely paralyzed. And for two months I could still feel the effects of that blow."

STORIES OF THE DIAMOND

The Cubs landed Casey Hageman, former Cardinal pitcher, at waiver price.

Manager Red Doolin has a good batting and fielding team, but he lacks the pitching.

If injuries to a team could win a pennant, Joe Birmingham and his Naps would have a walkaway in the American league.

Rebuilding the Naps is a discouraging problem. As soon as Manager Birmingham gets one weak spot built up the bad luck breaks out in another place.

The umpires in all the leagues—and this goes double for the Feds—must stir their stumps and hurry up these ball games. There has been too much time-killing to suit the fans.

R. J. McConaughy, a pitcher from Indianapolis, signed with the Hoofeds. He was supposed to have gone to the St. Joseph club of the Western league, but he balked and joined the independents.

Joe McGinnity, former big league pitcher, and lately manager of the Tacoma team, has resigned from the management, but will continue as president and chief owner of the club and will take his place on the slab as usual.

There will be no change in the attitude or the movements of the Constitutionalists because of the resignation of Huerta and the accession of Francisco Carranza to the provisional presidency. The only possibility of a change in Constitutional plans, according to both Carranza and Villa, depends on the unconditional surrender of the Mexican forces under the new provisional president. General Blanes says that there is absolutely no reason to believe that such a surrender will be made by Carranza.

Dwarf Trees.

The Chinese influence on interior decoration extends to the wonderful dwarf trees which, once almost prohibitively expensive, are now to be had at really popular prices, commencing at about 60 cents for diminutive yews and cedars that look as if they had come out of a "Kewpie's" garden. Stately oaks, sycamores, cedars, standing at least 20 inches high, are wonderful with their gnarled and twisted branches and close foliage; they appear like ancient forest trees viewed from afar and through the "wrong end" of a telescope.

Saved by His Hobby.

There was an official on one of our great railroads who was retired at seventy. "He'll die now," said his friends kindly. But he didn't. Instead, he became interested in the wild flowers, and now he is too busy in looking for the ram's head orchid, and trying to find a new station for the hart's tongue fern, and tramping around in the woods and fields in all kinds of weather, even to think of dying. Anyway, he wouldn't have time until he's finished his monograph on the willows of the United States.—Lippincott's.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 18, 1914.

A good deal of fun has been poked at Congressman Bowdler of Ohio because he has introduced a bill imposing a tax upon the incomes of American heiresses who become the wives of foreign noblemen, but the man is not the ass he is represented to be. He advances the convincing argument that since the heirs of our rich men who stay at home have to pay inheritance taxes it is an unjust discrimination to allow money to go out of the country free of tax in the form of dowries. Any girl who desires to marry a foreign count or prince has a perfect right to do so if she can, and no sensible person believes in discouraging international marriages, but that does not alter the fact that all fortunes made in this act are taxed on an equal basis.

The attack of indigestion and heat prostration from which President Wilson is suffering reminds us that he has had too many sick spells during the last year. Whatever any one may think of Mr. Wilson's policies, he must admit that they are infinitely better than could be expected from a rip-roaring blatherskite like Marshall if he should succeed to the Presidency. Under these circumstances it is a piece of extreme foolishness for Wilson to stay in as hot a place as Washington during the summer, since it has been demonstrated that he is too frail to withstand the climate. His reason for taking the risk is a sentiment that he ought not to ask Congress to remain while he seeks more salubrious surroundings. Congress is being held there to pass legislation which is not wanted by any considerable number of citizens, and which business men believe would surely postpone the return of better times. It is a preposterous

The cause of woman suffrage has another recruit. The first prominent politician to go over was Colonel Roosevelt. Then came Charles F. Murphy. Now William J. Bryan has followed their example. There is a suspicion that the latter became converted as the result of a hint from Wilson, who is "in bad" with the ladies because he refused to commit himself when called upon by a suffragist delegation. It is no new trick for political partners to distribute themselves on both sides of an issue, so that, in gambling language, they can "play both ends against the middle." Mr. Bryan would have done better if he had merely announced his conversion without backing it up by fool arguments. In the Commoner he says that the argument to which he "gives the greatest weight" is "the mother's right to a voice in molding the environment which shall surround her children's environment which operates powerfully in determining whether her offspring will crown her later years with joy or bring down her gray hairs in sorrow to the grave." That is pretty muddy English, but one can make out what it means. Carrying the beautiful thought further, mother ought to go down to the store or factory every day with father and the boys so as to environ the environment of their environment properly. Politics is not as prominent in most men's lives as business is, and if mother needs to take a hand in the lesser affair she certainly should manage the larger one. The hired girl can take care of the home unless she has to do some envioning on her own account.

We have heard it argued by a number of citizens that no benefit can be derived from a new charter for Kingston, since in any event the voters will elect the same kind of men as heretofore and that good government is more dependent upon the character of the men in office than upon the forms under which they work. A sufficient answer to this notion is contained in the published proceedings of the Common Council. The chronic feud between the Mayor and the Aldermen is disgraceful to the city. It is due entirely to political considerations. Each party to the quarrel is trying to put the other "in a hole." We believe that all of these men really want our city to prosper and to deserve public respect, but in the heat of strife they forget all about such things. Patronage and political capital are most in mind. Now it is possible to have a charter under which such occurrences would be, if not impossible, at least highly improbable. There should never be any political division in our municipal government, which is purely a business proposition, unconnected with national or State issues. Whether we have Commissioners or a Mayor and Aldermen, these officers should be chosen under some system which will result in harmony. The first task is to get a charter under which this can be accomplished. The next and harder task will be to get the right men into office. It is as well not to worry about the second step until the first has been taken.

WHEN IT PAYS TO "BLUFF."

(By Our Woman Editor.)

In one of his talks to students, Henry James cautioned them, as many another has done before him, to pay earnest attention to what they did and said and to let their feelings take care of themselves. If, for example, he told them, they would manage to check the cowardly impulse before it had a chance to pass into action, and if they would only refrain from striking the blow or letting go the complaining or insulting word that they would regret as long as they lived, they would find that their feelings would calm down with their actions, and all would be well. He counseled them that when something had happened to rob them of their spontaneous cheerfulness, as if nothing had happened at all, to look about cheerfully and to fact that all fortunes made in this act never been around. And if they were caught in the clutches of fear, just to put on "a stiff upper lip" and act as if they were not afraid of a thing on this big footstool, and pretty soon a real fit of courage would come to replace the old fit of fear.

If—and it is well worth remembering—they wanted to get back in the kindly favor of an old-time friend who had dropped from friendship's estate, and wanted to feel friendly themselves, it more or less rested with them. For the best way in the world to renew an old friendship or to start a new one a-growing where antagonism had been brewing before, was deliberately to try smiling, to make sympathetic inquiries and to force themselves to be genial, whether or no. They might, if they liked, go on wrestling with the bad old demon of uncharitable feeling, but the more and the harder they wrestled, the farther apart they would grow, and the more crabbed themselves. Whereas, if they would purposely act as if all were serene, as would soon fold its tent, like an Arab, and as "silently steal away."

Let their emotions come and let them go, as they would—that did not matter at all. All that concerned them was to look after their will or their purpose, for nobody cared what their emotions might be.

All of which, he told the students, they knew very well, theoretically, but he intimated that there might be times when they would forget all about their theories, and let their feelings, and acts follow the same bad line. And are we any wiser than the students?

Sometimes, yes; and sometimes, very much no. For our foolish feelings have a way of looming so big, and important that we cannot chase them away. Cannot? Ah, but do we try? And yet not a day goes by without its vivid incidents of feelings running away with judgment and leading folk into trouble that might easily have been avoided if the turbulent motions had only been packed away under cover of sensible, well-balanced acts. Perhaps there might be fewer tangles in statecraft if men standing well at the head would be content to war within themselves and not let their feelings prevail when it comes to acts which the world must observe. The public cares not a mite how spiteful, how belligerent, how anything they feel; it takes its measure from their acts—and sometimes it mightily suffers thereby.

And in homecraft—there's where it is pitifully easy to let feeling count every time, and as Henry James puts it, to "rip out with complaining or insulting word that we shall regret as long as we live." And there, of all places, it is fine to set in motion the determination to act as if little pin-pricks, brief vexations and the fuss and flurry did not matter at all. Where folk of positive tendencies meet, mingle and dwell, those small disturbances are more or less inevitable once or twice in a stormy while, but they would slip away in the shadows without much hurt to anyone if we would learn to whistle for courage to act the serene part. Because, as the philosopher assures us, along with the act would come the serenity itself.

And when the day is all over, with its mixture of calmness and stiff little blows, it is very comforting to know that whatever the feelings under cover, however the mind raced along by itself, the bad impulses were checked before ever any harm was done. Comforting, yes, and strengthening for the next and the next.

FRANCES CHAFFER.

Taking No Chance.

Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture appeared not long ago before a House of Representatives committee, explaining the needs of his department for appropriations for the coming fiscal year. After several hours of testimony, and the answering of many questions, Secretary Houston was taken aside by one of the committee members and told he would have to improve if he was ever to be in the class of Secretary "Tama Jim" Wilson of Iowa, who retired after 12 years' service as a cabinet officer.

"An official of the department was before our committee one day explaining why an appropriation of $50,000 was needed for some special investigation," said this representative. "Several members of the committee were not convinced on the project, and some one finally suggested that Secretary Wilson be asked to appear."

"Don't call Jim Wilson," urged one of the committee members. "Let him go. If Jim Wilson ever came here he'd make us appropriate $500,000 before he left."—Washington Star.

Like and Like.

William Dean Howells said the other day of a certain type of "best seller" novel:

"The men who wrote these books are intellectually debased, and the public they write for is intellectually debased also. The thing reminds me of an anecdote.

"What are you doing, dear?" a mother said to her little four-year-old daughter.

"I'm writing a letter to Alice," the youngster replied.

"But, dear," said the mother, "you don't know how to write."

"The little girl, however, as she calmly continued her pencil scrawl, answered:

"Well, mother, Alice doesn't know how to read."—New York Times.

The Balance.

The late Barton Willing of Philadelphia used to lament that the trustings with their untold millions had crowded out the fine old aristocracy of New York.

"Money governs everything nowadays," Mr. Willing once said at the Philadelphia Club. "It even governs society. When we weigh a man nowadays in the social scale, we always use a cash balance."

The Bad Barber.

Marie Lloyd, the English music hall artist, who was twice excluded by the immigration authorities, said in New York:

"You talk about your efficiency over here, but I think your immigration bureau is just as efficient as the Mile End barber."

"A chap went into a barber's in the Mile End road to be shaved. The barber cut him and knicked him gashed him. When the job was over, the chap said:

"Give me a drink of water, please."

"You aren't going to faint, I hope," said the barber, handing him a glass.

"No," said the man, mildly. "No, I just want to see if my mouth'll hold water."—New York Herald.

Could be Trusted.

There is a certain Ohio judge whose wit has enlivened many a dull case. On one occasion, counsel made in his court this statement on behalf of a plaintiff of somewhat bibulous appearance.

"My client, your honor, is a most remarkable man, and holds a very important position: he is manager of a waterworks."

After a survey of the client, His Honor replied:

"Yes, he looks like a man who could be trusted with any amount of water."—Lippincott's.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 18.—New York, New Haven and Hartford continued the center of interest at the opening of the stock market today on account of the financial status of the system and tried to recover claims of more than $300,000,000 instituted in Boston. The first sale of New Haven was made at 52 1/2, the same price at which it closed last night. The action of New Haven was the more exceptional because its advance was made in the face of general declines. Amalgamated Copper opened at 89 for the loss of 1/2 and C. & O. showed the same amount of loss. American Locomotive declined 1/2. There was considerable activity in Steel Common, which began 1/4 lower and fluctuated around 59 1/2. Erie was 1/4 lower at the start, increasing this decline soon after. Reading showed a fractional gain and so did Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific, Texas Company, New York Central, Louisville & Nashville and Northern Pacific. The curb was quiet. Americans in London were weak on selling, which has been used by New York cables.

Quotations furnished by John D. Kline, Broadway and Strand, Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 93, Correspondent of C. H. Van Buren & Company, members of Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York.

Woodland, July 18.—Twenty Boy Scouts, walking from the Wittenberg mountain last week, spent the night at Brookside, where Mr. Lord accommodated them by making hay beds in his barn. The following morning, much refreshed, they started for Waterbury, Conn., and New York city.

Mr. James A. Townsend, of Bay Ridge, N. J., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John A. Lord, at Brookside.

A number of New York, Philadelphia and Orange, N. J., people are registered at Brookside this season. Many large trout have been caught recently by gentlemen along the Woodland stream.

Sunday School Association.

At a meeting of the Sunday school superintendents of the local Sunday School Association held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening it was decided that the present schedule of games in the Sunday School Athletic League should be dropped on account of so many of the boys being out of town and the impossibility of some of the Sunday schools to get their full team together. In the future the Sunday school which has a team will challenge any other school having a team naming the date and time of play and these challenges will be received by the physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Only such games as are arranged by one Sunday school superintendent with another will be played off.

Violated the Game Law.

Delas Eckert of Olive registered at the county hotel Friday evening to serve a sentence of ten days in default of payment of a fine of $10. He was arrested by Game Protector DeWitt for violation of section 185 of the game law, which provides that no one may hunt or trap without a license.

Growing Old by Degrees.

Growing old has many stages. You can remember the time when, in reading your favorite author, you were disgusted to find that he had made his hero forty years old, and you wondered how he could be guilty of imputing romance to such an unconceivable age. By and by, even though you found forty years to be the old age of youth, you were soled by the thought that it was the youth of old age, and still later you will wonder where youth ends and old age begins.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 18, 1914.

A good deal of fun has been poked at Congressman Bowdler of Ohio because he has introduced a bill imposing a tax upon the incomes of American heiresses who become the wives of foreign noblemen, but the man is not the ass he is represented to be. He advances the convincing argument that since the heirs of our rich men who stay at home have to pay inheritance taxes it is an unjust discrimination to allow money to go out of the country free of tax in the form of dowries. Any girl who desires to marry a foreign count or prince has a perfect right to do so if she can, and no sensible person believes in discouraging international marriages, but that does not alter the fact that all fortunes made in this country should be taxed on an equal basis.

The attack of indigestion and heat prostration from which President Wilson is suffering reminds us that he has had too many sick spells during the last year. Whatever any one may think of Mr. Wilson's policies, he must admit that they are infinitely better than could be expected from a riproaring blatherskite like Marshall if he should succeed to the Presidency. Under these circumstances it is a piece of extreme foolishness for Wilson to stay in as hot a place as Washington during the summer, since it has been demonstrated that he is too frail to withstand the climate. His reason for taking the risk is a sentiment that he ought not to ask Congress to remain while he seeks more salubrious surroundings. Congress is being held there to pass legislation which is not wanted by any considerable number of citizens, and which business men believe would surely postpone the return of better times. It is a monstrous waste.

The cause of woman suffrage has another recruit. The first prominent politician to go over was Colonel Roosevelt. Then came Charles F. Murphy. Now William J. Bryan has followed their example. There is a suspicion that the latter became converted as the result of a hint from Wilson, who is "in bad" with the ladies because he refused to commit himself when called upon by a suffragist delegation. It is no new trick for political partners to distribute themselves on both sides of an issue, so that, in gambling language, they can "play both ends against the middle." Mr. Bryan would have done better if he had merely announced his conversion without backing it up by fool arguments. The argument to which he "gives the greatest weight" is "the mother's right to a voice in molding the environment which shall surround her children's environment which operates powerfully in determining whether her offspring will crown her later years with joy or bring down her gray hairs in sorrow to the grave." That is pretty muddy English, but one can make out what it means. Carrying the beautiful thought further, mother ought to go down to the store or factory every day with father and the boys so as to environ the environment of their environment properly. Politics is not as prominent in most men's lives as business is, and if mother needs to take a hand in the lesser affair she certainly should manage the larger one. The hired girl can take care of the home unless she has to do some envioning on her own account.

We have heard it argued by a number of citizens that no benefit can be derived from a new charter for Kingston, since in any event the voters will elect the same kind of men as heretofore and that good government is more dependent upon the character of the men in office than upon the forms under which they work. A sufficient answer to this notion is contained in the published proceedings of the Common Council. The chronic feud between the Mayor and the Aldermen is disgraceful to the city. It is due entirely to political considerations. Each party to the quarrel is trying to put the other "in a hole." We believe that all of these men really want our city to prosper and to deserve public respect, but in the heat of strife they forget all about such things. Patronage and political capital are most important. Now, it is possible to have a charter under which such occurrences would be, if not impossible, at least highly improbable. There should never be any political division in our municipal government, which is purely a business proposition, unconnected with national or State issues. Whether we have Commissioners or a Mayor and Aldermen, these officers should be chosen under some system which will result in harmony. The first task is to get a charter under which this can be accomplished. The next and harder task will be to get the right men into office. It is as well not to worry about the second step until the first has been taken.

WHEN IT PAYS TO "BLUFF."

(By Our Woman Editor.)

In one of his talks to students, Henry James cautioned them, as many another has done before him, to pay earnest attention to what they did and said and to let their feelings take care of themselves. If, for example, he told them, they would manage to check the cowardly impulse before it had a chance to pass into action, and if they would only refrain from striking the blow or letting go the complaining or insulting word that they would regret as long as they lived, they would find that their feelings would calm down with their actions, and all would be well. He counseled them that when something had happened to rob them of their spontaneous cheerfulness and they felt very much in "the dumps," the surest way out of it was smilingly to sit up, brave and determined, as if nothing had happened at all, to look about cheerfully and to act as if the old imp, gloom, had never been around. And if they were caught in the clutches of fear, just to put on "a stiff upper lip" and act as if they were not afraid of a thing on this big footstool, and pretty soon a real fit of courage would come to replace the old fit of fear.

If—and it is well worth remembering—they wanted to get back in the kindly favor of an old-time friend who had dropped from friendship's estate, and wanted to feel friendly themselves, it more or less rested with them. For the best way in the world to renew an old friendship or to start a new one growing where antagonism had been brewing before, was deliberately to try smiling, to make sympathetic inquiries and to force themselves to be genial, whether or no. They might, if they liked, go on wrestling with the bad old demon of uncharitable feelings, but the more and the harder they wrestled, the farther apart they would grow, and the more crabbed themselves. Whereas, if they would purposely act as if all were serene was, would soon feel its tent, like an Arab, and as "silently steal away." Let their emotions come and let them go, as they would—that did not matter at all. All that concerned them was to look after their will or their purpose, for nobody cared what their emotions might be.

All of which, he told the students, they knew very well, theoretically, but he intimated that there might be times when they would forget all about their theories, and let their feelings, and acts follow the same bad line.

And are we any wiser than the students?

Sometimes, yes; and sometimes, very much no. For our foolish feelings have a way of looming so big, and important that we cannot chase them away. Cannot? Ah, but do we try? And yet not a day goes by without its vivid incidents of feelings running away with judgment and leading folk into trouble that might easily have been avoided if the turbulent motions had only been packed away under cover of sensible, well-balanced acts. Perhaps there might be fewer tangles in statecraft if men standing well at the head would be content to let their feelings prevail when it comes to acts which the world must observe. The public cares not a mite how spiteful, how belligerent, how anything they feel; it takes its measure from their acts—and sometimes it mightily suffers thereby.

And in homecraft—there's where it is pitifully easy to let feeling count every time, and as Henry James puts it, to "rip out with complaining or insulting word that we shall regret as long as we live." And there, of all places, it is fine to set in motion the determination to act as if little pin-pricks, brief vexations and the fuses and flurries did not matter at all. Where folk of positive tendencies meet, mingle and dwell, those small disturbances are more or less inevitable once or twice in a stormy while, but they would slip away in the shadows without much hurt to anyone if we would learn to whistle for courage to act the stronger part. Because, as the philosopher assures us, along with the act would come the serenity itself.

And when the day is all over, with its mixture of calmness and stiff little blows, it is very comforting to know that whatever the feelings under cover, however the mind raced along by itself, the bad impulses were checked before ever any harm was done. Comforting, yes, and strengthening for the next and the next.

Taking No Chance.

Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture appeared not long ago before a House of Representatives committee, explaining the needs of his department for appropriations for the coming fiscal year. After several hours of testimony, and the answering of many questions, Secretary Houston was taken aside by one of the committee members and told he would have to improve if he was ever to be in the class of Secretary "Tama Jim" Wilson of Iowa, who retired after 12 years' service as a cabinet officer. "An official of the department was before our committee one day explaining why an appropriation of $50,000 was needed for some special investigation," said this representative. "Several members of the committee were not convinced on the project, and some one finally suggested that Secretary Wilson be asked to appear."

"Don't call him Wilson," urged "Tama Jim." "Call him Jim Wilson over come here he'd make us appropriate $500,000 before he left."—Washington Star.

Like and Like.

William Dean Howells said the other day of a certain type of "best seller" novel: "The men who wrote these books are intellectually debased, and the public they write for is intellectually debased also. The thing reminds me of an anecdote. 'What are you doing, dear?' a mother said to her little four-year-old daughter. 'I'm writing a letter to Alice,' the youngster replied. 'But, dear,' said the mother, 'you don't know how to write.' 'The little girl, however, as she calmly continued her pencil scribble, answered: 'Well, mother, Alice doesn't know how to read.'—New York Times.

The Balance.

The late Barton Willing of Philadelphia used to lament that the trust kings with their untold millions had crowded out the fine old aristocracy of New York. "Money governs everything nowadays," Mr. Willing once said at the Philadelphia Club. "It even governs society. When we weigh a man nowadays in the social scale, we always use a cash balance."—North American.

The Bad Barber.

Marie Lloyd, the English music hall artist, who was twice excluded by the immigration authorities, said in New York: "You talk about your efficiency over here, but I think your immigration bureau is just as efficient as the Mile End barber. 'A chap went into a barber's in the Mile End road to be shaved. The barber cut him and knicked him kashed him. When the job was over, the chap said: 'Give me a drink of water, please.' 'You aren't going to faint, I 'ope,' said the barber, handing him a glass. 'No,' said the man, mildly. 'No, I just want to see if my mouth'll hold water.'—New York Herald.

Could be Trusted.

There is a certain Ohio judge whose wit has enlivened many a dull case. On one occasion, counsel made in his court this statement on behalf of a plaintiff of somewhat bibulous appearance. "My client, your honor, is a most remarkable man, and holds a very responsible position: he is manager of a waterworks." After a survey of the client, His Honor replied: "Yes, he looks like a man who could be trusted with any amount of water."—Lippincott's.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 18.—New York, New Haven and Hartford continued the center of interest at the opening of the stock market today on account of the financial status of the system and tried to recover claims of more than $800,000,000 instituted in Boston. The first sale of New Haven was made at 53 1/2, the same price at which it closed last night. The action of New Haven was the more exceptional because its advance was made in the face of general decline. Amalgamated Copper opened at 69 for the loss of 1/4 and C. & O. showed the same amount of loss. American Locomotive declined 1/2. There was considerable activity in Steel Common, which began 1/4 lower and fluctuated around 59 1/2. Erie was 1/4 lower at the start, increasing this decline soon after. Reading showed a fractional gain and so did Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific, Texas Company, New York Central, Louisville & Nashville and Northern Pacific. The curb was quiet. Americans in London were weak on selling, which has been used by New York cables.

WOODLAND.

Woodland, July 18.—Twenty Bay Scouts, walking from from the Witenberg mountain last week, spent the night at Brookside, where Mr. Lord accommodated them by making hay beds in his barn. The following morning, much refreshed, they started for Waterbury, Conn., and New York city.

Mrs. James A. Townsend, of Bay Ridge, N. J., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John A. Lord, at Brookside. A number of New York, Philadelphia and Orange, N. J., people are registered at Brookside this season. Many large trout have been caught recently by gentlemen along the Woodland stream.

In Myer Estate. In the surrogate's court, a petition for a judicial settlement of the account has been filed by Joseph M. Schaeffer, Mary Myer and Edward W. Myer, as executors of the estate of Howard Myer of this city, and a citation issued returnable July 27. Virgil B. Van Wagoner appeared for the executors.

Growing Old by Degrees. Growing old has many stages. You can remember the time when, in reading your favorite author, you were disgusted to find that he had made his hero forty years old, and you wondered how he could be guilty of imputing romance to such an unbecomingly old age. By and by, even though you found forty years to be the old age of youth, you were soled by the thought that it was the youth of old age, and still later you will wonder where youth ends and old age begins.

New High School Teacher. Miss Florence Gray of this city will become one of the members of the faculty of Kingston Academy when school opens in September, and will teach both French and English classes. Miss Gray is a graduate of Kingston Academy and also of Vassar College. She was engaged as a substitute in the high school last year, and has become accustomed to the academy curriculum. Miss Gray is well fitted for the position that has been given her.

KINGSTON COLONY IN THE METROPOLIS

They Love to Compare Notes About Old Days in the Old Town—Policeman Moran Honored by His Associates.

Former Sheriff Ira M. Black, when seen by The Freeman's New York representative on Thursday, inquired about many Kingstonians. The sheriff looks well and is a trifle thinner than when he was a resident of Kingston.

Joseph Moran, who formerly resided in Eddyville and Kingston and who has been a member of the New York police force for the past fifteen years, attached to the Old Slip police station, has been elected president of the New York City Patrolman's Benevolent Association, which comprises over 8,000 members. While he was patrolling his beat the New York representative of The Freeman met him in Fulton street Thursday. "Hello, Joe," said the scribe. "Where have you been all the time, and when have you been up to the old town?" "Only a short time ago," said Joe. "I was up around Kingston, particularly in Rosendale, where I was married to Miss Rose Kenny and we are now living at No. 140 West 105th street, Manhattan." "The Chief," the newspaper devoted to city affairs exclusively, contains in its last issue, a cut of Mr. Moran, and his address on assuming the office of president of the association. The address is a column in length, and is most interesting to the policemen. President Moran spoke in high terms of Police Commissioner Woods and he also had words of praise for former Commissioner McKay, saying that Mr. McKay was very greatly respected by every member of the force and who retired from the department with the best wishes of every policeman in the five boroughs. President Moran is a brother of Matthew Moran and the late John Moran. Years ago he played on the Wilbur and Eddyville baseball nine, and was employed in the cement mills.

Joseph Drake attended a dinner given by John Murray Bartels in the Hotel Savoy on Wednesday evening. Mr. Bartels is one of the largest stamp collectors in the United States and only recently he sold a Confederate stamp on which he made a profit of $1,000. On Saturday Mr. Bartels sails on the Imperator and will spend four months in Germany. Very often in New York groups of former Kingstonians get together and spend an evening talking over things that have happened in the old Colonial town in the past ten years. Always in the groups there are one or two who have not visited Kingston in several years, and the questions they ask run something like this:

"You don't mean to tell me that where John Bond had his jewelry store and where Guss Frolich lived in the old stone house on John street that there is a big hotel on the site?" "Now don't sit there and tell me that Broadway which was always either dust or mud, along with Main, Wall, Fair, John, North Front streets and the Strand have been paved with brick?"

"And is that old wooden station of the West Shore still standing and do the trains still go over the Broadway crossing at grade?"

"Next to the Crosby building on John street stood Jack Conlin's saloon, and you say that the county has torn down all the buildings on John street between Jack's saloon and the old Radcliffe house on the corner, and that the Leader and Argus buildings on Wall street, purchased by the county, have been torn down, and that the county is dickering to buy Conlin's saloon, only he wants too much money for it. And the time is not far off when the county will put up a new surrogate's and county clerk's office."

"When I was in Kingston the last time, about eight years ago the old Eddie Green house stood on the corner of Pearl and Wall streets, and you say that St. Joseph's Church has a fine new parochial school building on the site? And that St. Mary's Church has just completed the erection of a magnificent school building on the corner of McEntee street and Broadway, and there is now being erected a $250,000 or $300,000 high school building on the O'Reilly lot directly opposite the city hall?"

"Yes, I know where Judge Parker lived on the corner of Clinton avenue and Pearl street, but I didn't know it was occupied by the parochial school of St. Joseph's until the new school was built and that it is now occupied by the undertaking firm of A. Carr & Son, who have remodeled a part of the building into a fine mortuary chapel."

"What'd you say, that where the old skating rink stood that the city has put up a building which is known as the Municipal Building? And right alongside of it is the Central Fire Station?"

"When I lived there Kingston Point Park was an idyllic place and was visited by thousands, and you say that instead of a band a mechanical arrangements is substituted and it sounds about the same as the noise made for Indian war dancing?"

"When I went to No. 8 School, the principal, Henry D. Darrow, lived at the intersection of Broadway and Albany avenue, and I remember how the dust was always on his house. I didn't know that house was down and 'Zake' Boice had built a house in the rear of the house, also torn down, occupied by Miss Tolley, and which is now one of the beautiful properties in the town."

"I suppose when I go to Kingston I will not see many of the old timers as if what you say is true, many of them have passed away. I remember fifteen and twenty years ago the venerable old men to be met on the Kingston streets. I recall F. L. Westbrook, Luke Noone, Charles Reynolds, William Lounsbury, John Brodhead, Chauncey Stewart, John Kerr, Martin Snyder, Cornelius Burhans, Gen. Sharpe, S. D. Cuykendall, Albert Terry, Dr. Robert Loughran, Dr. Myer, Silas Wood, William Remy, Sr., Henry Baldwin, Albert Carr, Henry C. Connell, Dr. J. G. ## TRUMBULL CYCLE CAR

Cost but 50 cents a day to run

You could write an almost perfect description of this wonderful little car just by putting down the car qualities you have wanted for years; lightness, low fuel cost, lowest possible tire cost, the rugged strength of a truck and the graceful, stream lines of an imported racer, all achieved without freakishness or experimental vagaries.

The Trumbull is an evolution. It stands for all that is known of automobile design and construction. Every mechanical device that insures strength and durability, every refinement of design that has been developed in the automobile industry, is incorporated in the Trumbull. Nothing is lacking.

To read Trumbull specifications is to recognize them as the specifications of a highly developed, ultra-modern automobile. The only difference is in size. Mechanical starter? Yes. Electric lights? Yes. Comfort? Ample for two, with compartment in rear for two hundred pounds of luggage. Four-cylinder water-cooled motor. Split-disk high-tension magneto. Non-skid U. S. Tires. Top, windshield, electric lights and horn, mechanical self-starter and tools are included as regular equipment at the extraordinary price of

They Love to Compare Notes About Old Days in the Old Town—Policeman Moran Honored by His Associates.

Former Sheriff Ira M. Black, when seen by The Freeman's New York representative on Thursday, inquired about many Kingstonians. The sheriff looks well and is a trifle thinner than when he was a resident of Kingston.

Joseph Moran, who formerly resided in Eddyville and Kingston and who has been a member of the New York police force for the past fifteen years, attached to the Old Slip police station, has been elected president of the New York City Patrolman's Benevolent Association, which comprises over 8,000 members. While he was patrolling his beat the New York representative of The Freeman met him in Fulton street Thursday. "Hello, Joe," said the scribe. "Where have you been all the time, and when have you been up to the old town?" "Only a short time ago," said Joe. "I was up around Kingston, particularly in Rosendale, where I was married to Miss Rose Kenny and we are now living at No. 140 West 105th street, Manhattan." "The Chief," the newspaper devoted to city affairs, exclusively contains in its last issue, a cut of Mr. Moran, and his address on assuming the office of president of the association. The address is a column in length, and is most interesting to the policemen. President Moran spoke in high terms of Police Commissioner Woods and he also had words of praise for former Commissioner McKay, saying that Mr. McKay was very greatly respected by every member of the force and who retired from the department with the best wishes of every policeman in the five boroughs. President Moran is a brother of Matthew Moran and the late John Moran. Years ago he played on the Wilbur and Eddyville baseball nine, and was employed in the cement mills.

Joseph Drake attended a dinner given by John Murray Bartels in the Hotel Savoy on Wednesday evening. Mr. Bartels is one of the largest stamp collectors in the United States and only recently he sold a Confederate stamp on which he made a profit of $1,000. On Saturday Mr. Bartels sails on the Imperator and will spend four months in Germany.

Very often in New York groups of former Kingstonians get together and spend an evening talking over things that have happened in the old Colonial town in the past ten years. Always in the groups there are one or two who have not visited Kingston in several years, and the questions they ask run something like this:

"You don't mean to tell me that where John Bond had his jewelry store and where Gus Froeh lived in the old stone house on John street that there is a big hotel on the site?" "Now don't sit there and tell me that Broadway, which was always either dust or mud, along with Main, Wall, Fair, John, North Front streets and the Strand have been paved with brick?"

"And is that old wooden station of the West Shore still standing and do the trains still go over the Broadway crossing at grade?"

"Next to the Crosby building on John street stood Jack Conlin's saloon, and you say that the county has torn down all the buildings on John street between Jack's saloon and the old Radcliffe house on the corner, and that the Leader and Argus buildings on Wall street, purchased by the county, have been torn down, and that the county is dickering to buy Conlin's saloon, only he wants too much money for it. And the time is not far off when the county will put up a new surrogate's and county clerk's office."

"When I was in Kingston the last time, about eight years ago, the old Eddie Green house stood on the corner of Pearl and Wall streets, and you say that St. Joseph's Church has a fine new parochial school building on the site? And that St. Mary's Church has just completed the erection of a magnificent school building on the corner of McEntee street and Broadway, and there is now being erected a $250,000 or $300,000 high school building on the O'Reilly lot directly opposite the city hall?"

"Yes, I know where Judge Parker lived on the corner of Clinton avenue and Pearl street, but I didn't know it was occupied by the parochial school of St. Joseph's until the new school was built and that it is now occupied by the undertaking firm of A. Carr & Son, who have remodeled a part of the building into a fine mortuary chapel."

"What'd you say, that where the old skating rink stood that the city has put up a building which is known as the Municipal Building? And right alongside of it is the Central Fire Station?"

"When I lived there Kingston Point Park was an ideal place and was visited by thousands, and you say that instead of a band and mechanical arrangements is substituted and it sounds about the same as the noise made for Indian war dancing?"

"When I went to No. 3 School, the principal, Henry D. Darrow, lived at the intersection of Broadway and Albany avenue, and I remember how the dust was always on his house. I didn't know that house was down and 'Zake' Boice had built a house in the rear of the house, also torn down, occupied by Miss Tolley, and which is now one of the beautiful properties in the town."

"I suppose when I go to Kingston I will not see many of the old timers as if what you say is true, many of them have passed away. I remember fifteen and twenty years ago the venerable old men to be met on the Kingston streets. I recall F. L. Westbrook, Luke Noonan, Charles Reynolds, William Lounsbury, John Broadhead, Chauncey Stewart, John Kerr, Martin Snyder, Cornelius Burhans, Gen. Sharpe, S. D. Coykendall, Albert Terry, Dr. Robert Loughran, Dr. Myer, Silas Wood, William Rosemyn, Sr., Henry Baldwin, Albert Carr, Henry C. Connell, Dr. J. G. ## TRUMBULL CYCLE CAR

Cost but 50 cents a day to run

You could write an almost perfect description of this wonderful little car just by putting down the car qualities you have wanted for years; lightness, low fuel cost, lowest possible tire cost, the rugged strength of a truck and the graceful, stream lines of an imported racer, all achieved without freakiness or experimental vagaries.

The Trumbull is an evolution. It stands for all that is known of automobile design and construction. Every mechanical device that insures strength and durability, every refinement of design that has been developed in the automobile industry, is incorporated in the Trumbull. Nothing is lacking.

To read Trumbull specifications is to recognize them as the specifications of a highly developed, ultra-modern automobile. The only difference is in size. Mechanical starter? Yes. Electric lights? Yes. Comfort? Ample for two, with compartment in rear for two hundred pounds of luggage. Four-cylinder water-cooled motor. Split-disc high-tension magneto. Non-skid U. S. Tires. Top, windshield, electric lights and horn, mechanical self-starter and tools are included as regular equipment at the extraordinary price of

If directors, officers, agents or servants, directly or indirectly, purchase or be interested in the purchase of any promissory note or other evidence of debt issued by it, for less than face value every director or person violating the provisions of this subdivision shall forfeit to the people of the state three times the face value of the note or other evidence of debt so purchased.

6. Shall not make any loan or discount on the security of the shares of its own capital stock, or be the purchaser or holder of any such shares, unless such security or purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted, and the securities so purchased or acquired shall be sold at public or private sale, or otherwise disposed of, within six months from the time of its purchase or acquisition. 2. In the stocks, bonds and other interest-bearing corporate securities purchased by a bank shall be entered on its books at the actual cost thereof, and for the purpose of calculating the undivided profits applicable to the shareholders, the cost of such stocks and securities shall not be estimated at a valuation exceeding their present cost as determined by amortization, that is, by deducting from the cost of any such stock or security the amount payable thereon at maturity, and charging to profit and loss, a sufficient sum to bring it to par at maturity, or adding to the cost of any such stock or security the amount payable thereon at maturity, and charging to profit and loss, a sufficient sum to bring it to par at maturity; but nothing herein contained shall prevent a bank from carrying such stocks, bonds and securities at their market value.

3. No bank shall, except with the written approval of the superintendent, enter in its books or records the value of real estate and the building or buildings thereon, used by it as its place or places of business, at a valuation exceeding their actual cost to such bank.

4. Every bank shall conform its methods of keeping its books and records to such orders in respect thereto as shall have been made and promulgated by the superintendent pursuant to section fifty-six of chapter XXXI. Any bank the refusal or neglect to obey such order shall be subjected to a penalty of one hundred dollars for each day it so refuses or neglects.

§ 110. Restriction on branch offices; penalty for violation.

No bank, or any officer or director thereof, shall maintain or cause the business of banking at any place other than its principal place of business except that a bank in a city which has a population of more than one million, may open and occupy in such city one or more branch offices for the receipt and payment of deposits and for making loans and discounts to customers of such respective branch offices only, provided that before any such branch or branches shall be opened or occupied, the board of directors shall have given its written approval, as provided in section fifty-one of this chapter:

Any bank having a combined capital and surplus of one million dollars or over, may, with the written approval of the board of directors, open and occupy any office or branch offices in one or more places located without the state of New York, either in the United States of America or in foreign countries.

Violating the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the people of the state the sum of one thousand dollars for every week during which any branch office shall hereinafter be opened or occupied in violation of this section.

§ 111. Restrictions on deposit of bank's funds.

No bank shall deposit any of its funds with any other moneyed corporation unless the deposit is made in a borough, city or depositary for the bank's funds by a vote of a majority of the directors of the bank exclusive of any director who is an officer, director or trustee of the depositary as designated in section thirty of this chapter.

§ 112. Reserves against deposits.

Every bank shall maintain total reserves against its aggregate demand deposits, as follows:

1. Eighteen per centum of such deposits if such bank has an office in a borough having a population of two millions or over; and at least twelve per centum of such deposits shall be maintained as reserves on hand, except as otherwise provided in this section.

2. Fifteen per centum of such deposits, if such bank is located in a borough having a population of one million or over and less than two millions, and has not an office in a borough specified in subdivision one of this section; and at least ten per centum of such deposits shall be maintained as reserves on hand.

3. Twelve per centum of such deposits if such bank is located elsewhere in the state and at least six per centum of such deposits shall be maintained as reserves on hand.

At least one half of the reserves on hand shall consist of gold, gold bullion, gold coin and United States certificates or United States notes; and the remainder shall consist of any form of currency, other than federal reserve notes, authorized by the laws of the United States.

Any one of the federal reserve banks, a member of a federal reserve bank, may maintain as reserves on deposit with such federal reserve bank such portion of its federal reserve funds as shall be required of members as federal reserve banks; and any such bank has an office in a borough having a population of two million or over, the remainder of its total reserves shall be carried as reserves on hand.

Any bank shall fail to maintain its total reserves in the manner authorized by this section, it shall be liable to, and shall pay the assessment or assessments provided for in section thirty of this chapter.

§ 113. Interpleader in certain actions; costs.

1. In all actions against a bank to recover for moneys on deposit therewith, if there be any person or persons, not parties to the action, who claim an interest in the fund, the court in which the action is pending, may, on the petition of such bank, and upon eight days' notice to the plaintiff and such claimants, and without prejudice to the several parties to the action, amend the proceedings in the action by making such claimants parties defendant thereto; and the court shall thereupon proceed to determine the rights and interests of all the parties to the action in and to such funds. The remedy provided in this section shall be in addition to and not exclusive of that provided in section eight hundred and twenty of the laws of the state of New York.

2. The funds on deposit which are the subject of such an action may remain with such bank to the credit of the action until final judgment therein, and be entitled to the interest on the claimants of the same class, and shall be paid by such bank in accordance with the final judgment of the court; or the deposit in controversy may be paid into court to await the final judgment of the court, and when the deposit is so paid into court such bank shall be struck out as a party to the action, and its liability for such deposit shall cease.

3. In all actions against a bank to recover deposits shall be in the discretion of the court, and may be charged upon the fund affected by the action.

§ 114. Rate of interest; effect of usury.

Every bank and every private and individual bank shall be subject to a license and charge on every loan and discount made, or upon any note, bill of exchange or other evidence of debt, interest at the rate of six per centum per annum, and such bank shall be liable to a penalty, reckoning the days for which the note, bill or evidence of debt has to run. The knowingly taking, receiving, reserving or charging a greater rate of interest shall be deemed to be a violation of this section, and the bank or banker who takes the entire interest which the note, bill of exchange or other evidence of debt carries with it, or which has been agreed to be paid thereon, if a greater rate of interest than that authorized by law is charged, or whose legal representatives may recover twice the entire amount of the interest thus paid from the bank or banker taking or receiving the same, if such action be brought within the time from the taking of the interest is taken. The purchase, discount or sale of a bona fide bill of exchange, note or other evidence of debt payable at another place than the place of such purchase, discount or sale shall be exempt from the above rate of exchange for sight draft, or a reasonable charge for the collection of the same, in addition to the interest, shall not be considered as taking or receiving a greater rate of interest than that authorized by law. The true intent and meaning of this section is to place and continue such banks and bankers on an equality in the particulars herein referred to with the banks and bankers of the state of New York of congress entitled "An act to provide a national currency, secured by pledges of United States bonds, and to provide for the circulation and redemption thereof," approved March the third, eighteen hundred and sixty-four.

§ 115. Interest on collateral demand loans or advances of money repayable on demand.

Upon advances of money repayable on demand to a customer not less than one thousand dollars made upon warehouse receipts, bills of lading, certificates of stock, certificates of deposit, bills of exchange, bonds or other negotiable instruments, or to a customer who has given a contract to receive and collect as compensation for such advance, the bank or banker shall be liable to a penalty, reckoning the days for which the advance is made, of twice the entire amount of the interest thus paid from the bank or banker taking or receiving the same, if such action be brought within the time from the taking of the interest is taken. The purchase, discount or sale of a bona fide bill of exchange, note or other evidence of debt payable at another place than the place of such purchase, discount or sale shall be exempt from the above rate of exchange for sight draft, or a reasonable charge for the collection of the same, in addition to the interest, shall not be considered as taking or receiving a greater rate of interest than that authorized by law. The true intent and meaning of this section is to place and continue such banks and bankers on an equality in the particulars herein referred to with the banks and bankers of the state of New York of congress entitled "An act to provide a national currency, secured by pledges of United States bonds, and to provide for the circulation and redemption thereof," approved March the third, eighteen hundred and sixty-four.

§ 116. Interest on collateral demand loans or advances of money repayable on demand.

Upon advances of money repayable on demand to a customer not less than one thousand dollars made upon warehouse receipts, bills of lading, certificates of stock, certificates of deposit, bills of exchange, bonds or other negotiable instruments, or to a customer who has given a contract to receive and collect as compensation for such advance, the bank or banker shall be liable to a penalty, reckoning the days for which the advance is made, of twice the entire amount of the interest thus paid from the bank or banker taking or receiving the same, if such action be brought within the time from the taking of the interest is taken. To determine the amount of gross earnings of a bank for any dividend period the following items may be included:

1. Earnings actually received during such period from the sale of securities, real estate or other property owned by it;

MOTORCYCLIST DIDN'T HEED GONG

James H. Purcell, a motorcycle messenger of Clinton avenue, was struck by the rig of Fire Chief Chipp while he was going to the Maxon fire at an early hour this morning. The accident occurred near Railroad avenue. The chief was being driven by Fireman Wright Mains and the gong was kept ringing continually after leaving the central fire station. According to the firemen, Purcell would not get out of the path of the rig when Railroad avenue was reached, and the accident could not be avoided by the driver. The chief stopped long enough to inquire as to the man's injuries and although assured that he was not hurt badly he asked to be sent to the Kingston City Hospital. Dr. Daniel Connelly found that Purcell was suffering from a badly bruised muscle on the arm and also contusions on the leg. He left the hospital this morning.

LIGHTHOUSE HIT BY LIGHTNING

Last Saturday night the lighthouse at Dannskammer Point, near Cedarcliff, was struck by lightning in several places. The lighthouse-keeper, J. H. West, was in the house at the time and had a narrow escape from being killed. He was shocked on the shoulder, the bolt following down his body and leg and tore off his shoe. He remained unconscious for some time and when he did revive had a hard time getting to Cedarcliff where Dr. Mosher of Marlborough attended him.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

One of the finest appearing delivery trucks on the streets is the newly overhauled Stewart truck of the Carl Dry Goods Co., which has been handsomely decorated and lettered.

If a pounding is noticeable in the base of your motor, it is a pretty good sign that timing is faulty or that the ignition is premature. Excessive deposits of carbon will also cause knocking. This condition will also be noticeable if the high is kept on too long when going up grade.

The motorist should be careful not to throw oily waste and rags around carelessly, or allow them to accumulate, for the reason that the decomposition which takes place creates spontaneous combustion, and a fire is liable to occur. More fires are caused in this way than the public realizes, and oftentimes blazes that are laid to cigars, cigarettes or matches are really traceable to spontaneous combustion. Vegetable oil, particularly, when spread on easily carbonized material, such as cotton, rags or waste, will fire very quickly.

The motorist will find kerosene to be an excellent cleanser for gear boxes and live axle cases. Pour in the kerosene liberally after draining off the lubricant. The car should then be jacked up and the motor run for a few minutes, during which time the gears should be changed so as to bring all of them into play. Replace the drain pods and pour in more kerosene. This process should be repeated a third time, after which new lubricant may be applied. It is well to resort to this treatment at least three times a season. A contemporary says that the mere fact that gears run is no indication that they do not need attention.

MORE OF PIGS AND SMELLS.

Correspondents Who Call on Board of Health to Act.

Editor Freeman.—In last night's issue you had a letter about pigs and garbage in the city limits. I notice it does not mention where the nuisance is, but I am also a sufferer under identical conditions, that is seeing city garbage collected by the city men, taken to this piggery, also in the city limits, it is dumped out on the open ground for the pigs to wallow through. This has been going on all summer, and the smell is well nigh intolerable. People passing along the road speak about the odor, two weeks ago two men were passing along the road toward Kingston, but turned back because of the smell. One of them wanted to know if the board of health ever came that way. I want to say right here, I believe that is where the trouble comes in. Surely the board has a right to go and see what disposition is made of the garbage collected in the city, and should not leave it all to the street superintendent and I should suggest for a start they inspect the piggery on Flatbush avenue near the city line, but within the city limits. Garbage is going there every day. The Tuberculosis Camp is situated within smelling distance, and, as I understand it is very necessary for the patients there to get plenty of fresh air. I hardly think the fresh air they get when the wind is blowing across from the piggery is conducive to good health, and as it is partly supported by the state funds I think any official making a visit there will have something interesting to say about it.

The thought came to me the other day that a few years ago Kingston celebrated its 250th birthday, and yet after all these years the city has not yet adopted a decent way of getting rid of its garbage, but allows it to be dumped out on the open ground, to contaminate the air all around. There is a cry of "Swat the Fly," now, people realize what harm the fly can do, yet the city allows its garbage to breed flies by the million and that too, close to cavers for the company.

where the fight is being made to fight the white plague.

The Chamber of Commerce has adopted the slogan of "Boost Kingston." How can people boost when the city allows such unsanitary conditions to exist in its borders. Let the sanitary inspector do his duty by inspecting the piggeries in the city limits, and also see that the garbage is buried in trenches, so that it will not be prejudicial to health, as unfortunately at present it is. Then people will feel more inclined to join in the cry of "Boost Kingston."

ANOTHER SUFFERER.

Editor Freeman.—Reading your article in last night's issue of The Freeman in regard to pigs and garbage, signed by A Sufferer, I for one think it is about time for the board of health or some other official to "sit up and take notice" in regard to these conditions. It does not seem justice for a property owner to have to stand the stench arising from garbage dumped upon the open ground, as a breeding place for flies, and perhaps some disease. While walking along Flatbush avenue at about the city line the odor from a pig pen and garbage was such that the pleasure of a stroll was spoiled by the reason of the fearful smell at this point.

Wishing that A Sufferer will get relief soon from the above cause of his suffering, we are,

LOVERS OF PURE AIR.

KIDD'S.

William Rockefeller.

New York, July 18.—Bourke Cockran, the attorney, in a suit against William Rockefeller and the directors of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company, called Mr. Rockefeller and his associates "Financial Captain Kidd." He voted with the other directors to "stand pat" and not to ask for re-

MAKES GOOD WITH DISCARDS

Washington Team Made Up Almost Wholly of Players Not Up to Standard of Other Managers.

Clarke Griffith's team furnishes the most striking example offered by any major league club on the possibility of the "come back" in baseball. A runner-up in the last two pennant races, Griff is convinced that his team will be the first to the wire in October. The remainder of the program consists of Walter Johnson making the National league pennant winners say "uncle" in the world's series.

If Griff is able to realize what he now believes to be next to a certainty—a pennant in the fall—he undoubtedly will be grateful to a considerable extent to Fred Clarke, Hal Chase and Hughey Duffy. These three notables, acting in the capacity of managers, turned loose a great part of the valuable talent which Griff now sends against the enemy every afternoon. No less than four of Griffith's regulars were tried and found wanting by other managers, but the Washington pilot did not let the say-so of another deter him from getting these players. He went to Washington at the beginning of the 1912 season, after Washington in 11 years as a member of the American league had finished sixth place, seventh five times and eighth four times.

It was with discard players that Griff built up the machine which beat out the Athletics, and trailed the Boston Red Sox in 1913, following up with another second-place team last season. Danny Moeller, who had been turned adrift by Fred Clarke; Chic Gandil, who had been sent to the minors by the Chicago White Sox, and Eddie Foster, sent on his way when Hal Chase led the Yankees, were the players to round out a winner at Washington. George McBride, who was in Washington for some time before Griff's arrival, was also turned loose by Fred Clarke.

Jake Doubert of Brooklyn, the king of present day first basemen, is a notable case of a ball player once turned back as of no promise. Cleveland had Jake once and did not think it worth while to exercise an optional agreement when he was turned back. Joe Jackson was under Connie Mack's wing at one time, and Connie let him go in a trade while he was still a minor leaguer. Jean Dubuc and Oscar Stanger were both cut loose by Cincinnati, only to bob up later and show to great advantage.

Broken Nose Not an Excuse. A broken nose isn't considered a legitimate excuse for retiring from the game in the American association.

The fact came to light in the recent series between Minneapolis and Columbus.

Dave Altizer, the forty-four-year-old youth who plays short for the Millers, fractured his nose at the bridge, when he collided with Hinchman at third base.

Despite the injury Dave remained in the game, but all the baseball sharps expected he'd be out of the lineup the next day.

But he wasn't. Joe Cantillon, when asked who would play shortstop the next day, replied:

"Dave Altizer. In this league we do not stop for broken noses."

And Dave also insisted upon playing.

Other Notable Tigers.

Cobb and Crawford are not the only notables among the Detroit Tigers. According to his teammates, Mark Hall, the pitcher, is the best poker player and bunco artist in the big leagues; First Baseman Burns is the best tango dancer; Pitcher Miles Mains, who stands six feet six inches in his stocking feet, is the tallest pitcher in the league, and Pitcher John Williams is the only Hawaiian who ever reached first company.

Brown Still Drifting.

George Browne, one-time big league outfielder, is adrift again. After resigning as manager at New Britain he joined the Hartford club, but his stay there was short.

Supply of Wood for Pencil.

East Africa has now come forward with a new wood suitable for lead pencils at a time when the supply of American cedar, so largely employed for that purpose, is approaching exhaustion.

MOTORCYCLIST DIDN'T HEED GONG

The accident occurred near Railroad avenue. The chief was being driven by Fireman Wright Mains and the gong was kept ringing continually after leaving the central fire station. According to the firemen, Purcell would not get out of the path of the rig when Railroad avenue was reached, and the accident could not be avoided by the driver. The chief stopped long enough to inquire as to the man's injuries and although assured that he was not hurt badly he asked to be sent to the Kingston City Hospital. Dr. Daniel Connelly found that Purcell was suffering from a badly bruised muscle on the arm and also contusions on the leg. He left the hospital this morning.

LIGHTHOUSE HIT BY LIGHTNING

Last Saturday night the lighthouse at Danekammer Point, near Cedarcliff, was struck by lightning in several places. The lighthouse-keeper, J. H. Weast, was in the house at the time and had a narrow escape from being killed. He was shocked on the shoulder, the bolt following down his body and leg and tore off his shoe. He remained unconscious for some time and when he did revive had a hard time getting to Cedarcliff where Dr. Mosher of Marlborough attended him.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

One of the finest appearing delivery trucks on the streets is the newly overhauled Stewart truck of the Carl Dry Goods Co., which has been handsomely decorated and lettered.

If a pounding is noticeable in the base of your motor, it is a pretty good sign that timing is faulty or that the ignition is premature. Excessive deposits of carbon will also cause knocking. This condition will also be noticeable if the high is kept on too long when going up grade.

The motorist should be careful not to throw oily waste and rags around carelessly, or allow them to accumulate, for the reason that the decomposition which takes place creates spontaneous combustion, and a fire is liable to occur. More fires are caused in this way than the public realizes, and oftentimes blazes that are laid to cigars, cigarettes or matches are really traceable to spontaneous combustion. Vegetable oil, particularly, when spread on easily carbonized material, such as cotton, rags or waste, will fire very quickly.

The motorist will find kerosene to be an excellent cleanser for gear boxes and live axle cases. Pour in the kerosene liberally after draining off the lubricant. The car should then be jacked up and the motor run for a few minutes, during which time the gears should be changed so as to bring all of them into play. Replace the drain pods and pour in more kerosene. This process should be repeated a third time, after which new lubricant may be applied. It is well to resort to this treatment at least three times a season. A contemporary says that the mere fact that gears runs is no indication that they do not need attention.

Water is Again Filtered.

After delivering unfiltered water to the entire city owing to work made necessary by the installation of the coagulating device at the filter house the filters were placed in use early this morning and all water coming to the city today was filtered. Unfiltered water was received all day on Friday, but the majority of the users of the city water followed instructions and boiled whatever water was used for drinking purposes. While it cannot be said it tasted as good, yet it was much safer.

Mrs. Charles C. Craven.

New Orleans, La., July 18.—"You can torture me, kill me if you want, but I'll never tell where it's hidden." This is the answer given to the police by Mrs. Craven, widow of Charles C. Craven, one of the cleverest hold-up men in the country, when she was asked as to the hiding place of booty worth $54,000 and known to be buried near Savannah. The woman was arrested after a ten day chase. Her husband was killed in a revolver duel on top of a moving freight train in Florida five months ago.

Peck at Oaks Corners was damaged by a tree blown against it and telephone and telegraph wires were blown down and extensive damage was reported from Seneca Falls, Tyre, Fayette and Waterloo, while at Sennett, James Gutter a farmer was killed by lightning.

MORE OF PIGS AND SMELLS.

Correspondents Who Call on Board of Health to Act.

Editor Freeman—In last night's issue you had a letter about pigs and garbage in the city limits. I notice it does not mention where the nuisance is, but I am also a sufferer under identical conditions, that is seeing city garbage collected by the city men, taken to this piggery, also in the city limits. It is dumped out on the open ground for the pigs to wallow through. This has been going on all summer, and the smell is well nigh intolerable. People passing along the road speak about the odor, two weeks ago two men were passing along the road toward Kingston, but turned back because of the smell. One of them wanted to know if the board of health ever came that way. I want to say right here, I believe that is where the trouble comes in. Surely the board has a right to go and see what disposition is made of the garbage collected in the city, and should not leave it all to the street superintendent and I should suggest for a start they inspect the piggery on Flatbush avenue near the city line, but within the city limits. Garbage is going there every day. The Tuberculosis Camp is situated within smelling distance, and, as I understand it is very necessary for the patients there to get plenty of fresh air. I hardly think the fresh air they get when the wind is blowing across from the piggery is conducive to good health, and as it is partly supported by the state funds I think any official making a visit there will have something interesting to say about it.

The thought came to me the other day that a few years ago Kingston celebrated its 250th birthday, and yet after all these years the city has not yet adopted a decent way of getting rid of its garbage, but allows it to be dumped out on the open ground. There is a cry of "Swat the Fly," now, people realize what harm the fly can do, yet the city allows its garbage to breed flies by the million and that too, close to where the fight is being made to fight the white plague.

The Chamber of Commerce has adopted the slogan of "Boost Kingston." How can people boost when the city allows such unsanitary conditions to exist in its borders. Let the sanitary inspector do his duty by inspecting the piggeries in the city limits, and also see that the garbage is buried in trenches, so that it will not be prejudicial to health, as unfortunately at present it is. Then people will feel more inclined to join in the cry of "Boost Kingston."

I AM.

ANOTHER SUFFERER.

Editor Freeman—Reading your article in last night's issue of The Freeman in regard to pigs and garbage, signed by A. Sufferer, I for one think it is about time for the board of health or some other official to "sit up and take notice" in regard to these conditions. It does not seem justice for a property owner to have to stand the stench arising from garbage dumped upon the open ground, as a breeding place for flies, and perhaps some disease. While walking along Flatbush avenue at about the city line the odor from a pig pen and garbage was such that the pleasure of a stroll was spoiled by the reason of the fearful smell at this point.

Wishing that A. Sufferer will get relief soon from the above cause of his suffering, we are,

LOVERS OF PURE AIR.

CALLER "FINANCIAL CAPTAIN KIDDS."

William Rockefeller.

New York, July 18.—Bourke Cockran, the attorney, in a suit against William Rockefeller and the directors of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company, called Mr. Rockefeller and his associates "Financial Captain Kidds." Mr. Rockefeller, who was expected to resign as a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, has not yet done so. He voted with the other directors for "stand pat" and not to ask for re-election.

MAKES GOOD WITH DISCARDS

Washington Team Made Up Almost Wholly of Players Not Up to Standard of Other Managers.

Clarke Griffith's team furnishes the most striking example offered by any major league club on the possibility of the "come back" in baseball. A runnerup in the last two pennant races, Griff is convinced that his team will be the first to the wire in October. The remainder of the program consists of Walter Johnson making the National league pennant winners say "uncle" in the world's series.

If Griff is able to realize what he now believes to be next to a certainty—a pennant in the fall—he undoubtedly will be grateful to a considerable extent to Fred Clarke, Hal Chase and Hughey Duffy. These three notables, acting in the capacity of managers, turned loose a great part of the valuable talent which Griff now sends against the enemy every afternoon. No less than four of Griffith's regulars were tried and found wanting by other managers, but the Washington pilot did not let the say-so of another deter him from getting these players. He went to Washington at the beginning of the 1912 season, after Washington in 11 years as a member of the American league had finished sixth place, seventh five times and eighth four times.

It was with discard players that Griff built up the machine which beat out the Athletics, and trailed the Boston Red Sox in 1913, following up with another second-place team last season. Danny Moeller, who had been turned adrift by Fred Clarke; Chio Gandil, who had been sent to the minors by the Chicago White Sox, and Eddie Foster, sent on his way when Hal Chase led the Yankees, were the players to round out a winner at Washington. George McBride, who was in Washington for some time before Griff's arrival, was also turned loose by Fred Clarke.

Jake Doubert of Brooklyn, the king of present day first basemen, is a notable case of a ball player once turned back as of no promise. Cleveland had Jake once and did not think it worth while to exercise an optional agreement when he was turned back. Joe Jackson was under Connie Mack's wing at one time, and Connie let him go in a trade while he was still a minor leaguer. Jean Dubuc and Oscar Stanger were both cut loose by Cincinnati, only to bob up later and show to great advantage.

Broken Nose Not an Excuse.

A broken nose isn't considered a legitimate excuse for retiring from the game in the American association.

The fact came to light in the recent series between Minneapolis and Columbus.

Dave Altizer, the forty-four-year-old youth who plays short for the Millers, fractured his nose at the bridge, when he collided with Hinchman at third base.

Despite the injury Dave remained in the game, but all the baseball sharps expected he'd be out of the lineup the next day.

But he wasn't. Joe Cantillon, when asked who would play shortstop the next day, replied:

"Dave Altizer. In this league we do not stop for broken noses."

And Dave also insisted upon playing.

Other Notable Tigers.

Cobb and Crawford are not the only notables among the Detroit Tigers. According to his teammates, Mark Hall, the pitcher, is the best piker player and bunco artist in the big leagues; First Baseman Burns is the best tango dancer; Pitcher Miles Mains, who stands six feet six inches in his stocking feet, is the tallest pitcher in the league, and Pitcher John Williams is the only Hawaiian who ever reached first company.

Brown Still Drifting.

George Browne, one-time big league outfielder, is drifting again. After resigning as manager at New Britain, he joined the Hartford club, but his stay there was short.

Supply of Wood for Pencils.

East Africa has now come forward with a new wood suitable for lead pencils at a time when the supply of American cedar, so largely employed for that purpose, is approaching exhaustion.

SATURDAY, JULY 18.

Sun rises, 4:37; sets, 7:34.
Weather, clear. Humidity 42 to 57.

The Temperature.

The lowest point registered by The Freeman's thermometer last night was 76 degrees. The highest point reached up until noon today was 89 degrees.

Weather Forecast.

Washington, July 18.—Eastern New York: Fair tonight and Sunday, cooler tonight and in south portion Sunday, moderate to fresh northwest winds.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Garry Herman gave fandom something to puzzle over when he remarked recently:

"We are not restraining Marsans and Chase from playing, but we are trying to get those men to play. It is the Federal League that is keeping them from playing if anyone is."

A beautiful prize is being offered to the first person who can figure out just what Garry meant by such a statement. As fandom viewed the matter, Garry and his colleagues were trying to do just what Garry says they weren't trying to do. In other words, Garry and his gang hustled into court and asked the judge to please do something so that Chase and Marsans wouldn't be allowed to play.

At the time that Garry slipped such a plea to the judge both Chase and Marsans were playing ball and were intent upon continuing in the pastime. They would have continued if it hadn't been for Garry and his chums, whose plea to the judges was answered. Thereupon, Chase and Marsans quit cavorting on the greens.

However, in the face of these facts, Garry assures the populace that "we are trying to get these men to play." To use the expression of one of the cartooning persons: "Can you beat it?"

There seems to be a lot of bunk in the idea that left handed batters cannot hit the slants and shoots of southpaw twirlers. Most of the big league clubs carry an extra right handed clubb along so that they may send him against a left handed twirler, but it seems a waste of money.

Joe Jackson, Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Frank Baker, Sam Crawford, Larry Doyle, Dave Robertson, Frank Schulte, Harry Hooper, Jake Daubert, Bert Shotton, Gus Williams and Fred Luderus are all left handed hitters, yet they club the offerings of southpaw pitchers with as much frequency and eclat as they do those that are served up by the starboard twirlers.

Tommy Leach seems to have been overlooked by most of those who are singing the praises of those who have long lived in major league circles. Wagner is now serving his eighteenth term, Lajoie is in his nineteenth and Mathewson is in his fourteenth. Their achievements have been heralded almost daily, but Leach, who is playing his sixteenth season, has been passed by.

Tommy, playing in the Cub outfield, is fielding and throwing with all the skill and power that made him a wonder ten or a dozen years ago. He is clubbing the ball harder and safer than in any of the other years of his big league career, and if he maintains the present clip he will lead not only Lajoie and Wagner in the clubbing line, but has a mighty fine chance to top the National League batsman.

Leach's legs have gone back on him a bit and he hasn't the marvelous speed of ten years ago, but the pedal trouble is not of a serious nature, and even now he is as speedy as most of the youngsters just breaking into the game.

Owner Frank Farrell, of the Yankees, who recently purchased "Birdie" Cree from the Baltimore Internationals, might make a master stroke if he bought back half a dozen other players that he released to the minor leagues during the past year. It seems that most of the players that Farrell let go signalized their escape from the Yanks by at once becoming demon clouters.

Cree, who was pronounced "all in" by Farrell and Manager Chance, clubbed on out for a .353 average while with Baltimore. Daniels, another Yankee castoff, is hitting .333 in the International League. Derrick is doing .330, Middie is hitting .313, Channell is over .300, Gilbookee is around the .320 mark and Whitman is connecting for .310. All these players are in the International League, which is one jump removed from the Majors.

A half dozen other players that have been released from the Yankees during the Chance regime, have turned right around and played like phenoms. What's the answer? Didn't Chance give them a fair trial, or were they unable to play at their regular gait because of the fright that comes to every rookie that enters the big leagues?

The Rondout Social Mannerchor will have an outing tomorrow to J. Schantz's farm. The first boat will leave at 8 o'clock a. m.

Tip to Parsons.
Could one but find their confessions, one is pretty certain that many of our old persons had little aptitude for the making of sermons, and the Book of Homilies was found very useful. On entering his pulpit one Sunday one parson fumbled considerably at the edge of a crack in the woodwork, then straightened himself as though making the best of a bad job. "Friends, the sermons is gone down the 'grike,' but I'll read a chapter of Job worth the pair of them."—From "Old Yarns or English Lakeland."

Rev. Irving H. Berg to Preach.

The Rev. Irving H. Berg, pastor of the South Congregational Church, of Hartford, Conn., and a former pastor in Catskill, will preach at the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday. In 1910 he was called to the pastorate of the First Reformed Church in this city, but declined in order to accept the call to Hartford, which took him to one of the old and substantial parishes of the Connecticut capital—a church which has had but three or four pastors in a hundred years. Mr. Berg's predecessor in the work there, the Rev. Dr. Edwin Pond Parker, served the church for fifty years, having come to it as a young man just graduated from a Maine divinity school. And the pastor before Mr. Parker served the parish for many years. Mr. Berg's father was a well known minister, who held pastorates in this part of the state through many years, and who died last winter.

ALDERMEN VOTE TO TABLE THE VETOES

Also to Appoint New Committees and Buy Voting Machines but the Veto Stand and the Mayor Can Write Some More so Nothing has Been Accomplished.

The same old tactics were pursued by the anti-administration aldermen at the meeting of the common council on Friday night and all vetoes of the mayor were tabled, reports of committees rejected and other performances given. An effort by the mayor to start a park system was almost blocked. Before the meeting ended the anti named a new set of standing committees, Dr. Connelly, president, and Mr. Leverich were the only administration aldermen present.

A communication was received from the mayor vetoing the resolution of Alderman Martin relative to voting machines. On motion the veto was laid on the table, Alderman Leverich voting no.

A veto from the mayor on the resolution to have all bills audited by a special committee for the reason "that the council had not the right to delegate the power of the auditing committee," was filed.

The mayor also returned disapproved the resolution of Alderman Schlip regarding the redistricting of the Fourth ward. The mayor held that the aldermen and city engineer, who were appointed a committee to attend to this matter, had not reported. Alderman Martin stated that a majority of that committee had met and made separate reports to the council as it was necessary to have it done by July 1. He moved the "attempted" veto be laid on the table. Carried, Alderman Leverich voting no.

Similar action was taken on the resolutions of Alderman Martin and Mitchell.

It was also reported to the council by the mayor that there were bills amounting to $1,537.56 due the street department. On motion of Alderman Zeeh the matter was referred to the mayor and corporation counsel.

Mayor Canfield then brought up the matter of widening Prince street at the corner of O'Reilly street, where the municipal barn stands. The crossing there is a bad one and on account of the Colonial track and U. & D. track is bad for vehicles going from one street to the other. The steam railroad has moved its flag shanty to the opposite side of O'Reilly street. Acting on the advice of the mayor, the council directed the street superintendent to widen the street.

Next the mayor suggested that the street committee supply benches for the city hall grounds and the same be lighted with incandescent lights as a humble beginning for a park system. Alderman Leverich moved that the designated City Hall Park and that the street superintendent provide paths and benches be purchased at a cost not to exceed $100. Alderman Martin amended that the street superintendent be empowered to procure benches and that a special committee of three be appointed to arrange for the lighting. The amendment was carried. President Connelly appointed the light committee, consisting of the chair and Aldermen Leverich and Schlip.

The mayor reported that the state comptroller thought the city treasurer should furnish an additional bond of $5,000 as custodian of the police pension fund. A resolution calling for such a bond was carried. He also reported that he had ordered several telephones eliminated and others installed. This was approved.

Bills against the city were read and on motion of Alderman Schlip were referred to the "special committee when appointed."

The auditing committee reported bills amounting to $12,518. Alderman Leverich moved that warrants be drawn. Lost, Mr. Leverich alone voting aye.

Street Superintendent Van Keuren reported purchases amounting to $564.81 during June. Filed.

The following resolutions were then introduced:
By Alderman Leverich, for Alderman Schlip, that Prince street be topdressed from Foxhall avenue to Hasbrouck avenue. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Leverich, for Alderman Schlip, that the street superintendent repair Clifton avenue from Highland avenue to Flatbush avenue. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Myers, that George Hutton be notified to lower gutter on Van Buren street. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Leverich, that the report of the auditing committee on bills and claims be adopted and warrants be issued. Lost.

By Alderman Jeaks, that a catch basin be placed at Davis and Abel street. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Zeeh, that the street superintendent lower catch basin at German and Ridge street. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Mitchell, that the street superintendent fill holes on Union street, from Broadway to Hasbrouck avenue. Referred to street superintendent.

The committee on ways and means reported the bootblackening ordinance closing stands at noon on Sundays. Alderman Zeeh claimed he had not been invited to attend the meeting of the committee.

Alderman Martin moved the adoption of the ordinance but said he would not recognize the committee. Carried.

The Chair—"You are not hurting my feelings or my reputation."

By Alderman Schlip, that the street superintendent fill holes on Hasbrouck avenue between Hasbrouck Place and East Chester street. Referred to street superintendent with power.

By Alderman Mitchell, that Mill street be topdressed and rolled. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Martin, that the mayor and city clerk be empowered to draw warrants or pay rolls now due and for the next two weeks as the council does not meet again for three weeks. Carried.

Voting Machines Again.

By Alderman Martin, that the mayor and city clerk be empowered to enter into a contract with the Automatic Registering Machine Company for the purchase of seventeen voting machines to be used in the fall election. The machines cost $10,200 and the city can pay for the same in installments of $1,000 each year. Resolution adopted, Alderman Leverich voting no.

Committee Discharged.

Alderman Schlip moved that the standing committees of the common council be discharged from further consideration of any business. The chair ruled the resolution out of order. Alderman Martin appealed from the chair's decision. Martin insisted on a roll call but the chair directed the clerk not to call the roll. Alderman Martin called the roll on the appeal and Alderman Leverich was the only one who opposed. Martin then called the roll of the Schlip resolution with the same result and declared it carried.

"Nominate a New Mayor."

Alderman Schlip moved that the council name a special auditing committee to consist of Alderman Martin, Zeeh and McCullough to serve until discharged by the council. The chair refused to entertain the motion and Alderman Martin appealed. The vote was the same as before, 7 to 1, and the motion was again put, this time by Alderman Schlip and he declared the motion carried.

Dr. Connelly—"Why don't you nominate the next mayor?"

Alderman Mitchell moved a special ways and means committee consisting of Messrs. Schlip, Myers and Jenks be appointed. The same proceedings followed, the chair calling it out of order. An appeal was taken. Alderman Martin called the roll and later on the resolution which he declared carried.

Alderman Zeeh moved that a special committee on streets and sewers consisting of Alderman Jenks, Leverich, Schlip, Mitchell and Smith be appointed. This time Alderman Zeeh had the privilege of calling the roll and declared it carried.

Next Alderman McCullough moved a special committee on gas electricity and light to consist of Alderman Mitchell, Smith and Schlip. He acted as chairman and clerk and declared the motion carried.

Alderman Myers moved a special committee on supplies to consist of Alderman Schlip, Jenks, Schick and Myers be appointed. Declared out of order. Appeal. President Myers presided and called the roll at one and the same time and declared the resolution carried by the vote of 7 to 1.

Alderman Martin's resolution concerned the railroad committee and named it to consist of Messrs. Schlip, Schick and Mitchell. Again carried. He also appointed Aldermen Jenks, Schlip, Mitchell, Moyle and Myers on the laws and rules.

Alderman Jenks had the privilege of naming the public buildings committee, consisting of Aldermen Myers, Schlip, Mitchell, Connelly and Smith. Carried.

An ordinance for curbing, guttering and flagging Post street was adopted.

Alderman Mitchell moved that the committees appointed be approved, the same to take effect immediately. Declared out of order. Appeal taken by Alderman Martin and sustained by a vote of 7 to 1. Then the resolution was carried by a vote of 7 to 1. Adjournment.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Garry Herman gave fandom something to puzzle over when he remarked recently:

"We are not restraining Marsans and Chase from playing, but we are trying to get those men to play. It is the Federal League that is keeping them from playing if anyone is."

A beautiful prize is being offered to the first person who can figure out just what Garry meant by such a statement. As fandom viewed the matter, Garry and his colleagues were trying to do just what Garry says they weren't trying to do. In other words, Garry and his gang hustled into court and asked the judge to please do something so that Chase and Marsans wouldn't be allowed to play.

At the time that Garry slipped such a plea to the judge both Chase and Marsans were playing ball and were intent upon continuing in the pastime. They would have continued if it hadn't been for Garry and his chums, whose plea to the judges was answered. Thereupon, Chase and Marsans quit cavorting on the greens.

However, in the face of these facts, Garry assures the populace that "we are trying to get these men to play." To use the expression of one of the cartooning persons: "Can you beat it?"

There seems to be a lot of bunk in the idea that left handed batters cannot hit the slants and shoots of southpaw twirlers. Most of the big league clubs carry an extra right handed pinch hitter along so that they may send him against a left handed twirler, but it seems a waste of money.

Joe Jackson, Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Frank Baker, Sam Crawford, Larry Doyle, Dave Robertson, Frank Schulte, Harry Hooper, Jake Daubert, Bert Shotton, Gus Williams and Fred Luderus are all left handed hitters, yet they club the offerings of southpaw pitchers with as much frequency and eclat as they do those that are served up by the starboard twirlers.

Tommy Leach seems to have been overlooked by most of those who are singing the praises of those who have long lived in major league circles. Wagner is now serving his eighteenth term, Lajoie is in his nineteenth and Mathewson is in his fourteenth.

Their achievements have been heralded almost daily, but Leach, who is playing his sixteenth season, has been passed by.

Tommy, playing in the Cub outfield, is fielding and throwing with all the skill and power that made him a wonder ten or a dozen years ago. He is clubbing the ball harder and safer than in any of the other years of his big league career, and if he maintains the present clip he will lead not only Lajoie and Wagner in the clubbing line, but has a mighty fine chance to top the National League batsman.

Leach's legs have gone back on him a bit and he hasn't the marvelous speed of ten years ago, but the pedal trouble is not of a serious nature and even now he is as speedy as most of the youngsters just breaking into the game.

Owner Frank Farrell, of the Yankees, who recently purchased "Birdie" Cree from the Baltimore Internationals, might make a master stroke if he bought back half a dozen other players that he released to the minor leagues during the past year. It seems that most of the players that Farrell let go signalled their escape from the Yanks by at once becoming demon clouters.

Cree, who was pronounced "all in" by Farrell and Manager Chance, clubbed 'em out for a .353 average while with Baltimore. Daniels, another Yankee castoff, is hitting .333 in the International League. Derrick is doing .330, Midkiff is hitting .313, Channell is over .300, Gilhooly is around the .320 mark and Whitman is connecting for .310. All these players are in the International League, which is one jump removed from the Majors.

A half dozen other players that have been released from the Yankees during the Chance regime, have turned right around and played like phenoms. What's the answer? Didn't Chance give them a fair trial, or were they unable to play at their regular gait because of the fright that comes to every rookie that enters the big leagues?

Could one but find their confessions, one is pretty certain that many of our old persons had little aptitude for the making of sermons, and the Book of Homilies was found very useful. "Friends, the sermons is gone down the 'girke,' but I'll read a chapter of Job worth the pair of them."—From "Old Yarns of English Lakeland."
